VILLA AND HIS ARMY AGREE TO RECOGNIZE CARRANZA AS CHIEF

First Important Step Is Taken Toward Healing Breach Between Mexican Rebel Leaders

CONFERENCES AT TORREON ARE PROMISING SUCCESS

Other Points of Difference Will Be Decided With Equal Facility. It Is Generally Believed

(By Associated Press.)

SALTILLO, Mexico, July 6.—(Via Laredo, Tex., July 6.)—The division of the north, Villa army, has agreed to acknowledge the authority of General Carranza as "first chief," and General Villa will remain commander of the division of the north, as a result of the conferences in Torreon between representatives of Villa and Carranza, according to news received here.

The conference has but begun its work, it was said, the two points agreed on being the first presented for the consideration of the delegates gathered in an attempt to deal with the breach between their chiefs. That these first and important points were agreed on with such little delay has caused a feeling here that other points will be decided with equal facility and that the differences between General Carranza and General Villa will be entirely wiped out.

The points agreed on represent certain concessions by both sides, it was said. General Villa, according to the news here, will withdraw his resignation as commander of the northern division. General Carranza will withdraw the acceptance of the resignation, and the division of the north, including its fifteen generals, will reaffirm their loyalty to Carranza as "first chief" of the constitutionalist army.

Officials at Washington Feel Greatly Encouraged

WASHINGTON, July 6.—Reports that an early adjustment of differences between the constitutionalist leaders was indicated, encouraged President Wilson and the cabinet.

Secretaries of the parley between representatives of Carranza and Villa declared they had expected the meeting would end today with satisfactory results. With the prospect removal of such a stumbling block it was hoped Carranza would send agent to confer with Huerta's delegates over the establishment of a provisional government.

Developments anxiously were awaited here in the election about Mexico City yesterday in which Huerta apparently was named for president, and General Blanquet, new secretary of war, was chosen vice president. Report were current that after Huerta had obtained an almost unanimous vote of confirmation, such as he was said to have received, he would retire in favor of Pedro Lascurain. The latter, according to reports, would surrender the government to constitutionalists. However, doubt that Huerta would adopt such a course was expressed in many circles.

Details of the election were lacking but reception of the announcement in senate and chamber of deputies was indicated and apparently the vote was the lightest of recent balloting.

That Carranza was prepared to resume his military campaign was indicated in unofficial dispatches received by Washington. Operations were to be begun against Queretaro, under direction of General Pablo Gonzales. Whether Villa would take part in the siege was not indicated.

Carranza and Villa Praised By Bryan's Special Agent

El Paso, Tex., July 6.—Richard H. Cole, of Pasadena, Cal., left today for Washington, after completing an investigation into Mexican affairs, the result of which he will report to Secretary of State Bryan.

Mr. Cole has been interested in Mexican affairs many years and is personally acquainted with leaders of both sides in the present controversy. It is understood he will present to the secretary of state an entirely new phase of the Carranza-Villa estrangement.

"Carranza is the Moses of Mexico," he said. "I have great faith in his ability to straighten out the Mexican situation. He was one of President Madero's most able supporters. Villa is the greatest military genius of Mexican history."

While here Mr. Cole has consulted with three American consuls from Mexico and agents of both the Carranza and Villa factions.

BILL OF EXCEPTIONS IN FRANK CASE FILED

Appeal From Motion to Set Aside Verdict to Be Heard in October

Attorneys for Leo M. Frank on Monday formally filed with the clerk of the superior court the bill of exceptions in the motion to set aside the verdict of the jury on the ground that Frank was not present, when it was received.

The clerk now has fifteen days which to prepare the record and send the case to the supreme court, which will review Judge Ben H. Hill's judgment in overruling the state's demurrer to the motion.

The motion to set aside will not be argued in the supreme court until the October term.

The other Frank motion, in which he appeals for a new trial on the ground of newly discovered evidence, is already in the supreme court and will propably be argued there on the third Monday in this month.

No Seats, No Fares, Trolley Riders Say; Put Off; May Sue

Three Passengers on Stone Mountain Line Plan Test Case of Their Ejection

Refusing to pay their fare until given seats, three passengers allowed themselves to be put off a Stone Mountain car Sunday night just after leaving Stone Mountain. The three men, W. H. Rossman, of Kirkwood; G. W. James, 26 Wall street, and a friend of their's, R. E. Johnston, of Byromville, Ga., have taken the matter up with attorneys and declare they intend to make a test case of it.

Their story is that when the car arrived at Stone Mountain a trailer was attached but this trailer was left by the crew when they started to Atlanta. As there were fifteen or twenty more persons than seats would accommodate, Messrs. Rossman, James and Johnston protested the crew's action in leaving the trailer.

When the conductor asked for these men's fares they refused to pay until seated. The conductor signalled the motorman, who stopped and the men were led—protesting, though unresisting—to the ground and the car proceeded.

According to Mr. Rossman, the place they were deposited was some distance from a regular stop. Names of witnesses were obtained by the men and they will carry the matter before the railroad commission as well as fight it in the courts, they say.

GEORGIA BOY KILLS FATHER TO SAVE MOTHER'S LIFE

Charlie Ham, of Barrett, Uses Gun to Break Domestic Quarrel

VALDOSTA, Ga., July 6.—To save his mother from death at the hands of her infuriated husband, Charles Ham, aged twenty years, shot and instantly killed his father, R. G. Ham, a prosperous and well-known farmer, early Monday morning at Barrett, ten miles north of this city. Young Ham has not been placed under arrest, but is at his home, waiting for the arrival of the Lowndes county coroner. It is not thought that there will be any inquest, as there were eye-witnesses. Nor is it presumed that any arrests will be made.

According to young Ham's story, his father had made three attacks upon his mother. The husband, it is said, first advanced on his wife with a chair, which was taken from him by another member of the family. The infuriated man then seized a knife, it is alleged, only to be disarmed by one of his sons. Finally, maddened with rage, he pulled his knife, and when one of his children stepped in front of him, he sent him reeling to the floor. Dashing at his wife, with his knife in his hand, he ran towards where his son Charles stood.

Stepping quickly to the dresser, where a pistol lay, the young boy fired at his father, the bullet passing through his body and killing him instantly. It is said that the elder Ham had been under the influence of whiskey for several days.

MRS. DAVID H. KEEFER AGAIN SEEKS DIVORCE

Second Suit Within Three Years Charges Cruelty to Herself and Daughter

Another suit for divorce was filed in superior court Monday by Mrs. Grace Macey Keefer, of Atlanta, against David H. Keefer, now of New York. A former suit by her against him was withdrawn, as the new petition recalls, in April, 1912. The petition says this was done at his urging.

In June, 1912, continues the new complaint, Mr. Keefer flew into a rage and hit her daughter by a former marriage over the head with a beer bottle, and then assaulted Mrs. Keefer. The couple lived together about a month after their reunion, says the petition, and then separated for good and all.

The troubles of Mr. and Mrs. Keefer have been in the courts intermittently since 1910, when they were married years ago. She has sued him for alimony and for adjudication of an estate, and in various other matters, in several courts.

JULY 25 RAT KILLING DAY IN CHARLESTON

CHARLESTON, W. Va., July 6.—Declaring there are as many rats as people in Charleston, and that they do damage approximating $125,000 every year, Mayor J. F. Bedell today set aside July 25 as „rat extermination day." It called attention to the presence of bubonic plague in New Orleans, and declared that, while there was no imminent prospect of an epidemic in Charleston, there was a possibility of the disease reaching here through rats on river boats. Many rat-hunting parties are being organized throughout the city.

HOUSE SAYS WOMEN MAY USE HALL FOR SUFFRAGE GATHERING

John Y. Smith's Resolution Passed Monday Without Debate—McCrory School Book Debate Resumed

LETTER FROM MR. WILSON IS READ TO THE MEMBERS

President Expresses His Appreciation of Resolution Adopted Recently by House Indorsing Administration

The features of the day in the house of representatives Monday were a letter of thanks from President Woodrow Wilson, for the house's indorsement of his administration; the passage of a resolution giving the Georgia Woman Suffrage association permission to use the hall on July 21 and 22, when the state convention meets in Atlanta; a couple of lengthy speeches under the right of personal privilege, one by Representative Moon of Troup, and the other by Representative McMichael of Marion; and an address of woman suffrage by Mrs. Francis Smith Whiteside of Atlanta.

The resolution allowing the suffragists to use the hall is notable for the fact that it passed without opposition, without discussion and with so few votes against it that a division was not even called for. It will be recalled that the house last year, on a similar resolution, passed it only after a lengthy debate. The resolution Monday was introduced by Representative John Y. Smith of Fulton county, who introduced last year's resolution.

MOON ANSWERS CRITICISM.

Representative Moon, under personal privilege, replied to certain references to him by an Atlanta paper in connection with the Sheppard child labor bill.

Representative McMichael, under personal privilege, replied to the charge by Representative Edmondson of Brooks on the floor of the house last Thursday that he is employed by a school book concern and hence opposes the plan of the McCrory bill for the state to publish the books used in the common schools.

The house at the hour of adjournment had ordered the main question on the McCrory bill and had voted on one amendment. The bill goes over to Tuesday and will be disposed of in a short while.

Among the bills introduced Monday was one by Representative Pickett of Terrell to create a state highway department and place it in charge of a commission consisting of the members of the state prison commission. This bill meets the objection of the members who voted to lay the Balckburn highway commission bill on the table because they consider a commission as contemplated by that bill unnecessary in view of the same functions practically being exercised already by the prison commission.

The letter from President Woodrow Wilson expressing his appreciation of the resolution indorsing his administration, which the house of representatives session, it being introduced by Representative Moye of Johnson, read as follows:

The White House,
Washington, July 2, 1914.

My Dear Sir:

I am very deeply touched by the generous action of the house of representatives of the state of Georgia in transmitting a copy of a resolution of indorsement of the administration. Will you not accept my cordial thanks for your kindness in forwarding a copy of the resolution to me, and assure the members of the house of my genuine appreciation of their appreciation and good will.

Sincerely yours,
WOODROW WILSON.

Hon. John T. Boifeuillet,
Clerk House Representatives, Atlanta, Ga.

THE NEW WHITEHALL

WIFE SEES HUSBAND KILLED BY FATHER

Jake New, Fatally Wounded at Norcross, Dies in Atlanta

Fatally wounded Saturday night in Norcross by Jeff Staples, his father-in-law, Jake New, twenty-one years old, a prominent farmer, died Sunday night at 9 o'clock in a private sanitarium in Atlanta.

The young man was shot in the stomach with a .44-caliber revolver by Staples, after a dispute between them, say witnesses.

New's pretty wife, nineteen years old; his baby girl, one year old; Mrs. Staples and a hired man saw the shooting.

New was rushed to Atlanta in an automobile after midnight Saturday. Accompanied by his aged father, L. H. New, the desperately wounded man was taken to a local hospital, where an operation was performed in a vain effort to save him.

L. H. New, the father, said Monday in Atlanta that he or his brother would swear out warrants of murder against Staples either Monday or Tuesday. L. H. New is staying over in Atlanta until Tuesday, when he will accompany the body of his slain son to Duluth, Ga., the old family burying ground. The funeral and interment will take place there Tuesday.

L. H. New, grief stricken, with tears in his eyes, told a Journal reporter what he knew of the cause of the tragedy.

FATHER TELLS OF SHOOTING.

"Jake and his wife and little baby went over in a buggy to the Staples' for the Fourth of July," he said. "They stayed at the house all morning. In the afternoon Jake and his wife rode on to town in Norcross. When they returned, after supper that night, Staples and Jake became involved in an argument of some sort. There had been bad blood between them for some time.

"After blows had passed between them, and after Mrs. Staples and Jake's wife had done all they could to separate them, Staples rushed into the house, came out again with the revolver, and shot my boy.

"His little baby daughter, just old enough to notice things, saw her father slain. His young wife saw it."

The gray-haired father, with tears in his eyes, could hardly continue.

They had disagreed for some time. I always told Jake never to clash with Staples; always to treat him right; always to let his wife visit her father and mother whenever she wanted to.

TWO MEN FIGHT.

"Jake was conscious almost until the time he died. He first told us that he and Staples had come to blows, after which Staples shot him. Then, lying on the hospital cot all day Sunday, knowing he was going to die, he prayed to God until the end came.

"Either I or my brother will swear out a warrant for murder against Staples Monday or Tuesday."

Jake New is survived by his mother and father, his wife and little daughter, one brother, Johnny, and three sisters, Mrs. Clyde Adams, Miss Ada New and Miss May New, all of Norcross.

Staples' version of the affair, as related by friends, was that a dispute between him and New arose over the question of New being bonded on some trouble alleged to have developed recently at Decatur.

Now, it is said, threatened the Staples family, and was shot when he attacked Staples himself.

FUND FOR FAIR BUILDING INCREASED TO $500,000

WASHINGTON, July 6.—Appropriation for a government building at the San Francisco exposition was increased to $500,000 in the sundry civil appropriation bill reported today to the senate.

HOKE SMITH DRAWS BILL REGULATING U. S. PRISONS

Would Have All Wardens and Deputies Appointed by President in Future

BY RALPH SMITH.

WASHINGTON, July 6.—Senator Hoke Smith has perfected and will introduce this week a bill to reorganize the management of federal penitentiaries by providing that in future wardens and deputy wardens shall be appointed directly by the president, subject to confirmation by the senate. A similar measure will be introduced in the house by Congressman Schley Howard.

Federal prisons, wardens and deputy wardens, under the existing law, are appointed by the attorney general and are responsible only to this officer.

Senator Smith's bill provides for the appointment of a board of visitors of five, located with reasonable proximity to each one of the prisons. The duty of the board of visitors will be to visit the prisons not less than four times a year, and oftener, if they deem it necessary ,and make full examination into the conduct of the prisons and report their findings to the department of justice, and also once a year to report their findings to congress with suggestions as to improvement in the conditions of the prisons.

The bill provides that these boards of visitors shall serve without compensation, being allowed only their actual traveling expenses and $5 a day for subsistence while they are visiting the prison and while they are preparing their reports.

Senator Smith has been working upon this measure for some time, and has about completed it. He expressed the opinion that the office of warden and deputy warden were too important to be left simply to an individual cabinet officer, that they should be named by the president and confirmation by the senate should be required for their appointment.

He insists also that the board of visitors be located reasonably near the penitentiaries, can be made of a high type of men and women who are really interested in the problems of prison life, whose visits and whose study of the prisons will have a salutary effect upon the entire management and generally help in the improvement of prison management and prison conditions in the United States.

COMMITTEE REFUSES AID TO SALEM FIRE SUFFERERS

WASHINGTON, July 6.—The $200,000 appropriation for the aid of the Salem fire sufferers asked by Senator Watson in a message to congress last Friday, was refused today by the house appropriations committee. The majority of the committee contended that Massachusetts was able to take care of the situation and that federal appropriation was unnecessary. Representatives Phelan and Gillett, the Massachusetts members of the committee, and five others voted for it.

FIRE DESTROYS ATLANTIC SUPPLY COMPANY STOCK

Fire early Sunday morning destroyed the stock and fixtures of the Atlantic Supply company at Foundry and Marietta streets. The origin of the fire is unknown. The nature of the materials made the blaze difficult to extinguish. The Standard Warehouse company, adjoining, suffered slightly from smoke and water. The total loss was about $5,000.

SENATE WOULD ABOLISH POLICE "THIRD DEGREE"

Passes Bill Making It Unlawful to Use This Method of Getting Confessions

A bill making it unlawful for police, detectives and others to subject prisoners to the so-called "third degree" or "sweating" examination to obtain confessions or information, was passed by the state senate Monday morning. This bill was introduced last year by Senator W. E. H. Searcy, Sr., of the Twenty-sixth district. It also makes it unlawful for police officials to turn a prisoner over to a third person to administer the "third degree."

Considerable discussion was aroused by the bill. Senator G. M. Hule, of the Thirty-fifth district, introduced last year and which has for its object the removal of Clayton county from the sixth congressional district and placing it in the Fifth district.

Several senators took the position that the reapportionment of the congressional districts was a matter handled every ten years by the federal congress and that there were grave doubts whether the change could be made except at the regular stated time for redistricting. The debate was cut short by a motion to have the bill recommitted to the general judiciary committee. The motion carried

The bill of Senator G. D. Perry, of the Twenty-eighth district, providing for the monthly payment of the state's school teachers, was defeated by a vote of 13 to 10. This bill, which was introduced last year, authorized the governor to use the funds in the state treasury to pay the school teachers just so long as such payments did not interfere with the prompt payment of the appropriations to the state sanitarium and other elementary institutions.

It also empowered the governor to borrow money to pay the teachers whenever such action was necessary.

Another bill passed the senate Monday was one by Senator W. E. H. Searcy, Sr., of the Twenty-sixth, to require that clerks of the state courts shall keep a record or docket of all forfeited bonds, recognizances and other instruments. The date of forfeiture, the amount collected, and other details, are to be recorded.

The resolution of Senator W. W. Stark, introduced several days ago, memorializing Georgians in congress to give every legitimate means to repeal the 1898 bankruptcy act, was adopted by the senate.

A resolution was introduced by Senator G. D. Perry, of the Twenty-eighth whereby the house and senate would jointly confer on the governor the power to fix the rank of the quartermaster general of Georgia as may be necessary from time to time to conform with the militia regulation of the United States. This was referred to the military committee.

BILLS INTRODUCED.

By Senator W. E. H. Searcy of the Twenty-sixth—To amend the charter of Griffin.

By Senator W. E. H. Searcy of the Twenty-sixth—To increase the maximum punishment for bigamy from four to ten years imprisonment.

By Senator J. H. Moore of the Thirty-second—To make it unlawful to publish in any newspaper or magazine an article reflecting on the virtue, chastity or character of any female without giving the name of the female. An editor violating this shall be punished as for a misdemeanor.

By Senator J. T. Peyton of the Thirty-first—To provide a bookkeeper for the state bank examiner with a salary of not more than $2,400 a year.

By Seantor Moore of the Thirty-second—To amend section 1249 of the code to add Dahlonega in Lumpkin county to the list of cities authorized to have state depository banks.

GRANTED DIVORCE, HE SECURES LICENSE TO TAKE ANOTHER BRIDE

Matrimonial Troubles in First Venture Has No Terror for B. F. Montgomery, Lumber Yard Foreman

95 PEOPLE IN COURT ROOM SEEKING DIVORCES

Of Thirty-Two Cases Heard, Thirty-One Are Granted Decree—Desertion Is Popular Charge

Undismayed by the sight of 95 people in the same court room seeking to sever irksome matrimonial bonds, and undaunted by the failure of his own matrimonial venture, B. F. Montgomery, employed as a foreman by a local lumber company, had secured a license to marry Miss Ora L. Terrell within five minutes after a jury in Judge George L. Bell's division of the superior court had granted a final divorce from Mrs. Lillie Montgomery.

Montgomery was one of 95 plaintiffs, who gathered in the court room Monday morning when Judge Bell announced the hearing of the undefended divorce calendar. Early in the morning his case was reached and he declared that his wife deserted him more than three years ago without cause or provocation. Immediately after his verdict was signed he walked from the court room to the ordinary's office where he secured a license to marry Miss Terrell, who is just 18 years old.

MANY PLEAD DESERTION.

Monday's session of the divorce mill was unique because of the unusual number of desertion cases. The ground for divorce in 14 of the 32 cases heard during the morning was desertion.

Among the unusual cases heard during the morning was that of Mrs. Eva Kate Lally Hennig, who secured a second verdict from Sigmund Hennig.

Hennig had filed a divorce, in his wife's case, admitting her charges that he was a drunkard and a gambler, and in this plea he asserted that he is now in the state penitentiary at Jefferson, Mo., doing an eighteen-month term for forgery.

"When my term is completed," he said in his plea, "I want to start life over again, because I realize I ought to ask the jury to remove my disabilities, so that I can marry again."

Judge Bell directed a verdict in the case for the plaintiff, and the jury very promptly refused to grant the husband's request.

In the cruel treatment cases the majority of plaintiffs declared that the defendant had threatened to take their lives, but one woman, Mrs. Eva Clay, alleged that her husband, Ernest Clay, actually attempted to kill her and their baby. He tried to smother them to death with a pillow, she charges.

WOMAN LIKES BABY.

Mrs. Lena Hudson, who secured a divorce from James D. Hudson on the ground of cruel treatment, told the court that during the two years of their wedded life her husband served no less than seven different terms in the city stockade.

Earl Denham, a Morgan county farmer, secured a divorce from Mrs. Beulah Denham on the ground of desertion. He told the jury that Mrs. Denham left in 1893 and refused to take her proper place a residence in the city to one on the farm.

E. L. Bradley secured a divorce from Mrs. Bessie Bradley on the ground of cruel treatment. One of his interesting specific charges was that she allowed their nine-year-old daughter to smoke cigarettes. When the divorce mill stopped grinding for the day Monday 31 verdicts out of 32 cases heard had been granted. One case was a mistrial. The divorce mill will continue until all of the 95 cases on the calendar have been called.

FELDER ANSWERS SLATON

Declares Charges Made Sunday Are Peurile and Utterly Without Foundation

M'RAE, Ga., July 6.—Thomas S. Felder spoke here today in the interest of his candidacy for the United States senate, and in the course of his speech replied to the card of Governor Slaton issued on yesterday, as follows:

"I have persisted throughout this campaign in conducting it on a high plane, leaving out all personalities and dealing in no insinuations and inuendoes with reference to my opponents. I will not consent now to pull myself down on a plane with that of Governor Slaton in his mud-slinging, but wish to briefly reply to some of his charges made against me in his latest Sunday proclamation.

He insists on connecting my campaign with that of Mr. Hardwick in saying that we have formed a combination for the purpose of defeating him. This charge is so puerile that I will not dignify it by discussion. It is simply false. It is but the peevishness of this petted child of fortune who can not brook opposition. The public knows that I entered this race before Governor Slaton did. I presume he thought that when he announced for the senate that all opposition would fade away.

"His charge that Hardwick and I are dividing the state in our canvass is utterly without foundation, and no one knows this better than Governor Slaton himself. He says that the people of Georgia don't know how their votes will be counted if cast for Felder or Hardwick, and that if he knows Georgians correctly they wish to have their votes counted as cast and not be made the subject of barter and sale like merchandise. I do not know what Governor Slaton means by this. If there is any chance to purchase we all know that he is in better position to buy than any other candidate in the race. His insinuation is a reflection upon every delegate in the coming convention. I myself have confidence in their honesty and integrity, or I would not have entered this race.

AS TO RESIGNATION.

Governor Slaton continues to see great error in my resigning the office of attorney general when I entered the race for the senate. This is the first time I have heard an official being criticised for handing in his resignation when offering for another office. Governor Slaton evidently will never lay himself open to such criticism. I am willing for the people of Georgia to construe my position in resigning the office of attorney general before offering for the senate with that of Governor Slaton who holds on to the office of governor and tries to use its power as a spring-board to land him in the senate. He is constantly passing on applications for pardons commutations of sentences and filling vacancies in public offices throughout the state of Georgia. He exercises the governor other discretionary powers. By attacking me for resigning he is simply trying to call the attention of the people away from his own unbecoming conduct. That he is using the office of governor to advance his ambition to be senator is plain to all observers. In one of his Sunday proclamations recently issued he appeals to south Georgia for the vote for senator by calling attention to the fact that as governor the bulk of his appointments, including a United States senators, two judges of the court of appeals and an attorney general came from south Georgia.

"Governor Slaton reiterates the charge that I left the office of attorney general in the middle of one of the state's most important lawsuits. His charge is untrue. No one knows it better than the governor. This is but an effort to drive from me certain counties of North Georgia. The case he says I abandoned is that of the state of Georgia against certain copper companies just across the line of Tennessee. This case has been in the supreme court of the United States since 1906. I was the third attorney general connected with it. The court in 1907 held that the state of Georgia was entitled to a decree enjoining the Tennessee Copper company and the Ducktown Sulphur, Copper and Iron company from damaging by acid fumes the soil of Georgia.

"The case was not entered but the then attorney general obtained the permission of the court to delay the entry until such time as the state of Georgia might see fit to move that the same be entered. The legislature last year authorized an agreement to be entered into with these copper companies by the terms of which they were to be allowed some three years more in which to perfect their plants so as to stop the damage from the fumes. The Tennessee Copper company entered into the agreement and the other defendant company refused to do so."

OBEYED DIRECTIONS.

As attorney general I was directed by Governor Slaton under the terms of the resolution of the legislature to move for a decree of permanent injunction against the refusing company. I carried out his direction and moved for the decree. The court did not deny the motion as stated by Governor Slaton but directed that testimony be taken to ascertain whether or not the improvements claimed to have been made by the company on its plant had eliminated the cause of the damage. My resignation did not become effective until I had argued the motion and the court had given this direction. My successor in office under the order of the court, had ample time, a month and a half or more, in which to acquint himself with the case before the actual taking of the testimony was to begin. Had I remained in office I would have been in no better position to further handle the case than my successor. This charge is but an effort by Governor Slaton to take from me the votes of the counties in north Georgia affected by the fumes from these copper plants. He will not be successful for the residents of those counties are well acquainted with my faithfulness to their cause.

Governor Slaton continues his unfair appeals for votes by asking, "What for instance is Mr. Felder's attitude toward the traveling man?" and asks if I did not vote against the bill providing for clean sheets. This is but another effort to turn from me the generous and united support which I am receiving in this campaign from the traveling men. He has made persistent efforts to obtain their support, which is recognized as one of the powers in the state and for which I am deeply grateful. I assume he is sincere in wishing to know how I stood on this bill and I will gladly tell him.

"The bill came before the senate, of which I was a member, in 1908. It provided for a misdemeanor punishment for those who violated its terms. I approved of all the bill except the penalty clause. I thought the penalty clause was too harsh and that the law would be made really more effective by striking the criminal feature and inserting in lieu thereof a forfeiture of all rights the hotel keeper had to collect any money for entertaining his guests, and should lease his lien against the baggage of the guest. The bill, however, was put on its passage with the penalty clause in it, and lost. I voted against it in that shape. I then suggested to Senator Gordy, who had charge of the bill in the senate (Dr. M. Gordy, Columbus, Ga.) that a motion be made to reconsider the action of the senate in defeating the bill, and that an amendment which I had prepared, carrying out the views above mentioned, be offered. This was perfectly agreeable to Senator Gordy. The motion was made and carried, and my amendment was thereupon adopted and the bill was passed by a vote of 24 to 9. (See Senate Journal, 1908, page 537.) I voted for the passage of the bill as amended, and the measure was, in my opinion, in much better shape than in its original form. The bill then went back to the house for action on the amendment, but was altered from the bill. If Mr. Slaton, who was a member of the house, had been as much in favor of the bill as he tries to make it now appear, he could, and should, have had the amendment acted on, and the law would have gone into effect a year before it did.

FROM SENATOR GORDY.

"A letter which I have from Senator Gordy throws out what I have said. It reads as follows:

"Columbus, Ga., August 13, 1910.

"Hon. T. S. Felder,

"Macon, Ga.

"Dear Tom: I found your letter awaiting me on my return home yesterday. You ask that I give you my recollection as to your position on the clean sheet bill before the senate when you were a member of that body, as you state I was looking after the bill in the senate and advocated its passage. You opposed the passage of it, stating at the time that you did not think a hotel keeper should be made a criminal for a failure to provide clean sheets every day, and further stated that a good many hotels in the state were run by widows and you thought the misdemeanor clause should be stricken. The bill came over from the house and was defeated in the senate. Later you told me that you thought an amendment could be drawn that would eliminate the misdemeanor part of it which you objected to. My recollection is that you drew the amendment striking that part of it, and providing that in case the provisions of the bill were not complied with that the hotel keeper lost his right to collect fare, and I am not sure but that it further provided that he should lose all right to attach baggage, etc. The amendment was either introduced by you or by myself. I am not at this time able to say which. I think that I also introduced an amendment to make the provisions of the bill apply to European hotels charging as much as $1 per day for rooms, the bill originally applied to hotels charging as much as $2 per day. My recollection is that I made the motion to reconsider the action of the senate in defeating the bill, which motion prevailed, and then the amendment prepared by you was offered and adopted and then the bill passed, was sent back to the house and lost in the shuffle over there. I am writing from memory but think I am correct, am sure that your only objection to the bill was the misdemeanor clause.

Yours very truly,

"F. M. GORDY.

"This is not the only effort which has been made to misstate the positions which I have taken on measures while a member of the general assembly by Governor Slaton and others.

"In an effort to prejudice the farm vote against me there recently appeared in the public press, and is now being circulated in pamphlet form, the statement that I voted to increase the injunction fee on fertilizers from 10 cents per ton. This is an absolute misstatement of my record.

"I voted against the increase of the tax, and the Senate Journal so shows. (See Senate Journal, 1907, pp. 279-281.)

"The governor, in his Sunday proclamation, says he understands that I do not attack the tax equalization act, since my campaign manager was one of its fathers in the house of representatives.

"In reply to this I wish to say that I have no campaign manager, and have not had since this campaign began, and that when I am elected to the senate I shall still be without a manager. However, if I had a campaign manager, his views on any public question would certainly not affect my own.

NATIONAL ISSUES ONLY.

"In this campaign I have discussed only national questions. The so-called tax equalization law is the governor's trouble, not mine. It is his baby and he must nurse it whether he wishes to or not. He can't sit it in my lap.

"Governor Slaton gives us promise that he is investigating my legislative record and that he will later let the people of Georgia know it. I welcome this. I wish he would put his record and mine in parallel columns and let the people compare them. My record at least has been positive. I have always stood for something, while Mr. Slaton as a legislator never stood for anything. He is like the willow—bends to every breeze and has never faced the storm.

"Governor Slaton charges that I have neglected the small counties and have not shown sympathy with them. This is but a bald statement of his own and has absolutely no foundation in fact, all of which is well known to the governor.

"I was born and reared in a country county and my sympathies are entirely with them, and my public and professional life has been largely devoted to their service. The governor evidently recognizes my strength in these counties and is trying by insinuations and innuendos to break down this strength.

"The remainder of his charges are childish, and I shall make no reply to them."

NEGRO MESSENGER BOY HURT BY AUTOMOBILE

Andrew Hollins, a fifteen-year-old negro messenger boy, was painfully cut on the cheek and bruised as a result of his collision with an automobile belonging to Edwin P. Ansley Monday morning in front of the Piedmont hotel.

The boy was carried to Grady hospital where his wounds were dressed. Patrolman Boetwick, who investigated, served the driver of the car, Sam Ridgeway, with a copy of charges for appearance before Recorder Broyles Tuesday morning.

GEORGIA AND HER POLITICS

J. R. WALKER CLUB FORMED IN LOWNDES

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

VALDOSTA, Ga., July 6.—A strong and enthusiastic club or voters of Valdosta and Lowndes county are being formed in the interest of Congressman J. R. Walker, of the Eleventh district, whose return to congress is being opposed by J. A. J. Henderson, of Irwin county. Over three hundred names have been enrolled in less than two days, and many others are to be secured, so the promoters of the organization say.

It is hardly probable that there will be any speeches made in the campaign. Congressman Walker has announced that he will remain in Washington at his post of duty. Mr. Henderson, his opponent, has expressed it as his desire not to take part in any public programs. It is understood that a number of other Walker clubs will be organized throughout the district.

LAWRENCE OR TRAVIS WILL RUN FOR SENATE

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

SAVANNAH, Ga., July 6.—Either A. A. Lawrence or Robert J. Travis is expected to announce within the next few days his candidacy for senator from the first district to succeed J. Randolph Anderson.

Mr. Lawrence was in Atlanta last week looking over the political situation, and Mr. Travis is expected to visit the capitol Monday or Tuesday. Upon his return to Savannah the announcement will be made.

It is understood that neither Mr. Travis nor Mr. Lawrence wish to run against each other, and that if one announces the other will remain out of the race.

BURWELL WILL SUCCEED HIMSELF AS SPEAKER

There seems little doubt now that William H. Burwell, speaker of the Georgia house of representatives, will succeed himself and wield the gavel during the 1915-16 session.

Mr. Burwell represents Hancock county in the legislature and he stands so well with his constituents that they not only will not tolerate opposition to him, but they will not hear of him retiring.

Since the present session of the legislature began a large number of the members of the house who are to be re-elected without opposition have volunteerily pledged their support to Mr. Burwell for the speakership.

MAJORITY RULE ADOPTED IN HART

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

HARTWELL, Ga., July 6.—The Democratic executive committee of Hart county met Saturday in the court house at Hartwell and fixed the date for the county primary on the same date of the state primary, July 28. They also voted the majority rule and the second primary will be held on the 26th day of August in the event it is necessary to hold same.

HARDWICK PREPARES REPLY TO SLATON

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

JONESBORO, Ga., July 6.—Congressman Hardwick addressed the voters of Clayton county today in the interest of his candidacy for the United States senate. Outside of the discussion of issues he directed attention to Governor Slaton mainly by saying, "I have got Governor Slaton to beat, and I am going to do it. Lack of time was not Slaton's reason for refusing to meet me in joint debate. Things are gingering up a little, and I yet hope he will meet me. An Atlanta paper in 1906 carried a hundred or so counties for Howell, and they are carrying them for Slaton this year, and I think Slaton will come out about the same way."

The attack that Governor Slaton made on me in the press yesterday will be answered in detail within the next twenty-four hours. We are going to have some fun now sure enough. Governor Slaton opposed for months before the committee the ratification of the income tax law, for which he voted finally on record vote."

He quoted Governor Slaton's reason in 1911 for refusing to vote for Senator Smith that the then Governor Smith entered into a solemn and binding contract for two years with the people of Georgia.

NO CHANCE FOR SUFFRAGE BILL, SAYS MR. MYRICK

While in Savannah Saturday, Shelby Myrick, representative from Chatham, chairman of the constitutional amendment committee of the house, stated that the woman suffrage bill introduced by Representative Barry Wright had no chance of passage.

"The bill will not get more than two votes in the committee," said Mr. Myrick, "which will mean an unfavorable report to the house."

Mr. Myrick said that the sentiment in the house was overwhelmingly against woman suffrage.

HOKE SMITH CLUB FORMED IN DOOLY

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

VIENNA, Ga., July 6.—A Dooly County Hoke Smith club with over 100 names was organized here last Friday. The membership list will be sent to the other towns in the county as well as to the rural districts, and it is expected that the club will have at least 800 members by July 15. Senator Smith's friends predict that he will carry Dooly county by a large majority. Many prominent men who formerly supported Governor Brown will vote for Senator Smith.

HARDWICK AND EDWARDS TO SPEAK IN EFFINGHAM

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

SPRINGFIELD, Ga., July 6.—Thomas W. Hardwick, candidate for the United States senate, and Charles G. Edwards, who is running for congress in the First district, will address the voters of Effingham next Monday here during the noon hours of the city court.

Mr. Edwards has just begun his campaign and has arranged a number of speaking dates. He spoke at Indianola Springs Saturday to voters of Bulloch and Tattnall counties.

TWO EDITORS IN RACE FOR TROP REPRESENTATIVE

Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

LAGRANGE, Ga., July 6.—W. Trox Bankston, editor of the West Point and Lanett News, has announced his candidacy for the legislature from Troup county.

The other candidates who seek this office are J. T. Armstrong, W. F. Hines, Helfin Lane and J. Roy McGinty. The last named is editor of the LaGrange Graphic.

403 AT PICNIC SAY THEY'LL VOTE FOR MR. SMITH

BLACKSHEAR, Ga., July 6.—At a picnic near Bolon, in the edge of Ware, Coffee and Pierce counties, on Saturday, July 4, which was attended by more than 500 persons, Lewis H. Oden, a leading druggist of this place, and a Mr. Davis, of Pierce county, took around a petition and asked all who intended to vote for Senator Hoke Smith to sign it. It was signed by 403 voters.

WHITEHALL MERCHANTS READY FOR CELEBRATION

Paving Jubilee Planned for Tonight Will Be Treat to Public

Everything is in readiness for the big Whitehall street paving celebration Monday night at 7:30 and unless the weather man horns in with rain, which doesn't seem probable, there's going to be lusty doings to celebrate the completion of the improvement between Mitchell and Garnett streets.

T. L. Satterwhite and J. C. Kennedy, who have the arrangements in charge, announce that the last detail of the merry-making has been completed. The Fifth Regiment band is tuned to the last notch, the screen on which the outdoor moving pictures will be shown is going up, and the merchants who are to take part in the celebration have their souvenirs and favors all ready for distribution. From which it is predicted that, if preparedness counts for anything, the enterprising gentlemen who inhabit the southern portion of the Whitehall retail district are going to give to Atlantians a new conception of what a really firstclass celebration is like.

From 7:30 to 11, the hours over which the jubilee will extend, the stores of those taking part will be open and brilliantly lighted throughout. And in each, some souvenir or favor will be dispensed to all comers. Watermelons, grape juice, sandwiches, cigars, pickles, ice tea and many other good things will be among those dispensed.

Those who will take part are: Empire Furniture company, Knott-Carmichael Furniture company, Jones-Kennedy Furniture company, Capital City Laundry company, Benjamin's Pharmacy, Rhodes-Wood Furniture company, Bloch Bros.' meat market, Jacobs' Pharmacy, Cruickshank Cigar company, Benjamin-Ozburn company, Stuart D. Jones, grocer, Tefalu Market company, Bowers Grocery company, Wolfsheimer Market company, Robertson's Delicatessen, Smith Bros.' Seed company, James Manos Fruit company, Franklin Plumbing company and Garrows' Candy Kitchen.

NEED FOR MORE MONEY URGED BY HEALTH BOARD

Appropriation Inadequate at Present; Needs May Grow

Urging that an appropriation of $10,000 be made available at once "to enable us to investigate conditions in our state wherever necessary," and that "still larger sum be set aside to be given to the board should it become necessary in the opinion of the governor," the state board of health has addressed a formal communication to Governor Slaton and both houses of the general assembly.

The letter is pertinent to the possibility that bubonic plague, now in New Orleans, may become epidemic there and thus it may have reached Georgia's seaports or have been brought into the state from New Orleans. It quotes a telegram from the General Blue of the United States Public Health Service which authority recommends the beginning of a rat survey, with bacteriological examination of all captured rats, and begin exterminative measures "at all ports in your state in order to discover if it exists and to take proper measures for its eradication prior to the appearance of human cases."

RECORD FOR ARRESTS IS BROKEN BY THE POLICE

Cases Made Against 213 Offenders Saturday and Sunday—All Minor Offenses

Previous records made by the Atlanta police force were smashed Saturday and Sunday, when an even 213 arrests were made in the space of forty-eight hours. This also probably means the police will be forced to break other records in the length of the sessions his court will hold Monday.

In spite of the large number of arrests, Chief of Police Beavers declares that Saturday, when the majority of the offenders were corralled, was the most orderly Fourth of July the city has known for many years. The offenses for which arrests were made were in a large measure drunkenness or minor quarrels between parties who had imbibed too freely. There is not a really serious offense among the entire lot, it is pointed out, and very few for willful violations of the "safe and sane Fourth" provisions.

FORMER ATLANTIANS HONORED IN FLORIDA

He is now the representative in Jacksonville of the American Central, Western and British America fire insurance company.

Four Atlantians were selected for other offices. R. Toombs Caldwell, of the Rochester German Underwriters, and Edwin C. Jones, of the Springfield Fire and Marine, were elected members of the executive committee, William M. Haynes, of the Queen, and Ben I. Simpson, of the Phoenix of Hartford, were elected members of the law and ordinance committee.

GREETERS ARRIVING FOR SEMI-ANNUAL MEETING

Convention Will Be Called to Order Tuesday Morning in Piedmont Hotel

Members of the Southeastern Greeters' association, representing a majority of the largest hotels in the south, began to arrive in Atlanta Monday morning for the semi-annual convention of the organization which will be called to order in the convention hall of the Piedmont hotel by President R. Frank Taylor Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock.

The address of welcome will be delivered by President Taylor immediately after the first session is called to order Tuesday morning. He will be responded to by Leslie D. Fairchild, secretary and treasurer and assistant manager of the Hotel Tutwiler, Birmingham, Ala. A business session will follow, participated in by the members who hold positions as hotel managers, assistant managers, room clerks, auditors, front clerks and bookkeepers. The keynote of the meeting will be good fellowship and higher efficiency among the hotel fraternity.

The ultimate aim of the association is not one of selfish motives, but to impress thoroughly into the minds of hotel proprietors throughout the United States a feeling of absolute security when dealing with a member of the organization.

The entertainment features of the two days' session will be participated in by nearly every hotel of prominence in Atlanta. At the close of the business session Tuesday, the delegates will be tendered a luncheon at the New Kimball. From there they will go to the baseball game at Ponce de Leon park. In the evening they will be guests of President Taylor at a dinner at the Piedmont hotel, of which he is associate manager. A theater party at the Forsyth will follow and the evening will come to a close with a dance at the new Hotel Winecoff.

Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock delegates and visitors will be tendered a breakfast at the Georgian Terrace hotel. Later they will leave in automobiles for Kimballville farm for luncheon with "Farmer Bill" Zimmer. A visit to the federal prison is also planned and the convention will be brought to a close in the evening with the annual banquet and ball at the Hotel Ansley.

DANIELS REMOVES STING FROM HUFF'S CONVICTION

Commander, Courtmartialed for Fight, Praised for Zeal in Discharging Duty

(By Associated Press.)

NORFOLK, Va., July 6.—Secretary of the Navy Daniels, passing on the verdict of the courtmartial in the case of Lieutenant Commander Charles P. Huff, commends him for zeal in the performance of his duties as United States ordnance inspector at the Newport News shipyard, reduces his loss of numbers from five to three, and holds that the publication of the court's findings shall be the only reprimand.

Commander Huff made an attack on J. Philip Kiesicker, in a hotel at Newport News, February 15. Kiesicker is connected with the shipbuilding company. An attempt was made to connect the assault with Commander Huff's relation as ordnance inspector, but this was not sustained.

DENIES Y. W. C. A. HAD YOUNG GIRL ARRESTED

After Money Was Missed, Her Removal Only Was Asked, Explains Secretary

Denial that Quinnie Brooks, a young woman taken to police headquarters Sunday night from the Y. W. C. A. on West Ellis street, was arrested for a theft of 46 cents, was issued Monday by Miss Wingo, general secretary of the association. Miss Wingo stated that the girl's arrest was not sought, but that her removal was asked and the offer was made to pay for her sleeping quarters elsewhere. Miss Wingo said further no prosecution will be made by any officer or member of the association.

"Mrs. Osborne, the home director, was in charge last night when a young woman who said she had just come in on a train applied for care for the night," said Miss Wingo. "The young woman gave her name, and said she had no money and was without protection. She had no baggage, but was dressed neatly and was of good appearance. On her own statement, she was assigned by Mrs. Osborne to a room with three other young women. We were crowded, but we make it a rule never to turn a girl away under circumstances like these.

"The new visitor went up early to her room, and was there for a time before the others sought to retire. They reported then to Mrs. Osborne that some one had been rifling their effects. Investigation disclosed an article of clothing which one of them identified, under the pillow of the newcomer. Mrs. Osborne noticed the young woman was nervous, and fearing consequences of a search, she telephoned for an officer to come and be ready for an emergency. When the officer came, further search was made, and a silver purse one of the other girls had missed, and 46 cents in change lost by two other girls, were found in the possession of the young woman. Also, a five-dollar bill was found in one of her shoes, and she admitted after it was her own money."

Miss Wingo said it being evident then the visitor should not be permitted to remain in the house, her removal was asked. Mrs. Osborne informing the officer the association would pay for her quarters elsewhere for the night and stipulating that no case was to be made against her.

"If she was arrested and a case made against her, it was not at our instance," said Miss Wingo. "We did not want her punished, and we wanted to shield her and ourselves from unpleasant publicity. Since the incident has been published in the wrong light, representing the young woman as a victim of pathetic circumstances, I think the matter should be corrected by the truth."

FRED S. STEWART CO. TO HAVE LARGER STORE

Whitehall Street Shoe Dealers Need More Space for Increased Business

To accommodate their rapidly increasing business the Fred S. Stewart company, shoe dealers of 25 Whitehall street, have leased an additional store and will spend a large sum remodeling it to suit their purpose.

The new store crosses the present Stewart store at right angles in the rear and has an entrance on Alabama street midway between Broad and Whitehall streets.

It will double the company's floor space and give two entrances instead of one. The work of remodeling commenced Monday and the new store will be ready for occupancy by September 1.

One of the new features of the enlarged stores will be a big department devoted entirely to children's shoes.

The Fred S. Stewart company's business was founded nineteen years ago and has grown steadily, until now it ranks as one of the largest in Atlanta.

DEAF MUTES OBJECT TO CAVE SPRINGS SCHOOL

Location Undesirable, They Say, and Ask for Branch at Macon

That the deaf-mutes of Georgia in their annual meeting here Friday and Saturday said nothing disparaging to the state school for mutes at Cave Springs and that they have no complaint to make against either the officers or the directors of this institution, is set out in a communication to The Journal from J. W. Michaels, minister to the deaf.

The one fact mentioned against the Cave Springs school, according to Mr. Michaels, is its location, which is such as to render it inaccessible to large numbers of the mutes of the state, especially those living in the southern portion. It was pointed out that while the state pays the transportation of students to the school, no provision is made for defraying the expenses of the person who must always accompany them and for this reason, the distance to the school from where many would be attendants live is prohibitive.

For this reason, Mr. McMichaels sets out, the convention expressed itself as unanimously in favor of the establishment in south Georgia or in Macon of a branch of the school which would put the institution in reach of every one in the state. It was not, it is said, due to any fault to be found with the management of the present institution that such a move is found desirable.

Officers of the deaf-mute association elected at the convention for the coming year are: J. M. Jones, of Stone Mountain, president; James Stallings, of Lithonia, first vice president; Arthur Chambers, of Atlanta, second vice president; L. B. Dickson, of Leesburg, secretary, and W. T. Brown, of Atlanta treasurer.

FOUR PERSONS SLAIN IN NIGHT IN CHICAGO SUBURB

Man and Wife, Their Daughter and Her Child, Murdered With Axe While Asleep

(By Associated Press.)

CHICAGO, July 6.—A family of four was wiped out by blows from an axe in their home in the German settlement of Blue Island, a suburb, last night.

The victims were Jacob Neslesia, a German laborer, aged 72; his wife; their daughter, aged 35, and the latter's infant child. The crime was discovered by Jacob Neslesia, Jr.

Whether the butchery was the work of a maniac or of a person seeking revenge was not disclosed in the first investigation. It was learned the young mother of the infant had been living away from her husband for some time and efforts to find him were begun. His name was said to be Hamilton. Each of the slain was struck in the head.

Neslesia slept in a front bed room on the first floor of the little frame dwelling. In the attic the two women and infant had their beds. The axe was found near these beds, indicating to the police that Neslesia was the first victim.

Jacob Neslesia, Jr., a son of the old couple living in another part of Blue Island, is a track laborer and went to the home of his parents, which is near the tracks, to get a pail of water. He discovered the bodies after calling members of the family in vain.

MORE COOL AND FAIR WEATHER, IS PROMISE

Temperature in Atlanta Was Only 83 Degrees at 11 A. M.

More cool and fair weather for Monday and Tuesday is the promise given to Atlantians by the weathermen. Those clouds you may see by glancing up will prevent the sun from sending the mercury past the maximum Monday, at least. At 7 o'clock Monday morning the weather bureau reported a temperature of 74 degrees. Shortly after 11 o'clock this had risen to but 83.

Former President of Columbia Says Congress Should Approve Pending Treaty

PARIS, July 6.—"The American flag was stained by the manner in which Panama was torn from Colombia," writes Former President Rafael Reyes, of Colombia, who now is in Paris, in a letter addressed to President Wilson. The letter was written in view of the approaching consideration by the United States congress of the Urrutia-Thompson treaty between Colombia and the United States, signed last April.

General Reyes expressed the hope that congress will approve the treaty and in so doing will satisfy not only Colombia but the whole of Latin-America.

THEORY AND FACT INCURABILITY OF BRIGHTS DISEASE

Professor Tyson in his work on BRIGHT'S DISEASE says: "As to special curative measures which directly diminishing Albumenuria, I believe there are none."

Old beliefs are tenacious. But no matter how venerable and sacred, theory must give way to fact. From a safe full of evidence we take the OFFICIAL figures in a recent test case the analyses being made by one of the most noted analysts in this city:

Jan 16 Albumen 2.700 gms (24 hrs)
Jan 28 Albumen .465 gms (24 hrs)

Reduction in 12 days nearly 89 per cent.

This case was in extremis and the treatment was prescribed too late but in the face of the testimony of analytical chemists what becomes of the old dictum that there is no agent that reduces albumenuria? Lamarck has truly said the great difficulty is not in discovering but in getting the acceptance of new truths. But the light is spreading.

The ability of Fulton's Renal Compound to "diminish albumenuria" in many cases of Brights Disease is not a theory but a FACT IN PHYSICS to

DOROTHY AINSWORTH REJECTS 17 SUITORS

Dorothy Ainsworth

To have rejected seventeen proposals at seventeen years of age is the unique distinction of Dorothy Ainsworth, daughter of Mrs. Jennie May Eaton, who was recently acquitted of poisoning her second husband, Rear Admiral Joseph Eaton.

ATLANTA PRESBYTERIANS WELCOME DR. LYONS

Pastors Unite in Cordial Greeting to New Pastor of First Presbyterian Church

No presbyterian services were held in Atlanta Sunday evening except in the Firat Presbyterian church on Marietta street. There the Presbyterians of the city gathered to welcome Dr. J. L. Lyons, the new pastor, called recently from Louisville, Ky. Pastors of other Presbyterian churches here took part in the services, a special program of music was rendered.

Dr. Lyons delivered a brief sermon, leaving a strong impression. He declared the time is coming when good preaching will be accepted as the simple and intelligent reading of the Scriptures.

Dr. Dunbar H. Ogden, pastor of the Central Presbyterian church, gave the new pastor in behalf of the Atlanta presbytery.

James R. Bachman, an elder of the First church, welcomed Dr. Lyons in behalf of the congregation. He characterized the new pastor as a preacher of the old Gospel of the saving grace kind—an humble, honest, determined leader for God.

The invocation was delivered by Dr. A. R. Holderby, pastor of Moore Memorial. Rev. J. B. Ficklen, pastor of Inman Park church, read the Scriptures, and prayer was offered by Dr. Richard Orme Flinn, pastor of North Avenue Presbyterian church.

IF RUNAWAYS ARE WED, BLESSINGS AWAIT THEM

Couple Who Eloped From Franklin, N. C., Believed to Be in Atlanta

If Ollie Mincey, a 17-year-old girl and Rufus Henry, 19 years of age, who are supposed to have eloped from Franklin, N. C., Saturday coming to Atlanta, have been married, they have only to return to the parental vine and fig tree to receive the blessings of the young lady's parents.

Monday morning, Chief of Detectives Lanford received a communication from the young lady's parents in the Tarheel town. They gave it as their opinion that the young couple had come to Atlanta. Ollie they say, who weighs around 125 pounds, is dressed in white even to her shoes and stockings. Henry is described as a pleasant-looking, well-dressed young chap of fair education and good address. Parents of the girl ask that the police locate them here if possible.

Search for the couple is being made by the police.

PASSENGERS FLEE WHEN FIGHT STARTS ON CAR

Negro Draws Knife on McDaniel Street Line and Conductor Uses Revolver

Claiming the conductor had short-changed him by 5 cents, Harry Barner, a sixteen-year-old negro boy, drew his knife and for a few moments mixed things up lively on a McDaniel street car Sunday afternoon about 4 o'clock, near the corner of Piedmont avenue and Houston street. The conductor, J. A. Ferguson, drew his pistol, according to report, and fired at the negro several times. The negro was unhurt as was also the conductor.

Passengers on the car when the trouble arose, made haste to leave by doors and windows, fearing the bullets and the knife. Several women were on the car but no one was hurt. The negro was captured after a struggle and taken to the Fulton county jail. Later he was turned over to the city police and is held at police station charged with disorderly conduct. He lives at 215 Ellis street, he said.

Climate of Georgia And South Carolina Once Nearly Tropical

Study of Ancient Flora Shows Frost Was Rarity, but Rains Were Abundant

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, July 6.—That the climate of South Carolina and Georgia once was almost tropical is one of the interesting conclusions of experts of the geological survey, announced today after an exhaustive study of the ancient flora of those states. This vegetation grew during upper cretaceous and eocene time—or, as geologists state, at least several million years ago.

A study of this flora, which has been preserved in fossil form in the rocks, indicates also that shallow seas extended inland more than 100 miles from the present seaboard. At that time was a considerable elevation and relief of the Piedmont area to the west; that the river gradients were high and the streams numerous and more or less torrential in character and that there were swamps along the lower courses of the streams.

The report says the fossil plants indicate there was a mild, though not strictly tropical climate, without seasonal changes; there was no evidence that great frosts occurred, but rainfall was abundant. Indications are, it is stated, that in middle eocene time the climate of Georgia was possibly warmer than during the upper cretaceous epoch or at present.

THEATERS

(Criticisms of initial performances at the local theaters are written by members of The Journal staff. All other matter appearing in this column is furnished by the theater management.)

Willa Holt Wakefield, one of the headliners on this week's bill at the Forsyth theater, is the originator of the pianologue and a "song reader" of talent. She is well known in Atlanta, which was formerly her home, and Atlantians need no introduction to her. A better number to topline could not have been secured.

The other big feature is Sam Bernard and company in a comedy sketch. The other acts have been selected with extreme care for the entertaining qualities that the theatergoers here have expressed a preference for, and the bill should prove to be a standard Forsyth offering.

The theater is a delightfully cool place, the exhaust and ventilation plants doing most effective work, and the numerous fans cause together with the iced air making the house thoroughly comfortable.

The Grand theater offers for the first part of this week one of the strongest emotional dramas released this season, "Woman Against Woman," a big Biograph production which comes direct from Broadway. Occupying the same bill will be "Seven Days," the picturization of Mary Roberts Rinehart's great story. For Thursday, Friday and Saturday comes "The House of Bondage," the sensational white-slave drama.

THE WORLD'S YOUNGEST PREACHER RAPS WHISKY

Six-Year-Old Boy Says He Knew Right From Wrong When Two Year Old

Charles R. Turner, a six-year-old boy, who is making a tour of the world with his father, the Rev. A. T. Turner, a Baptist minister, preached Sunday night to an audience numbering several thousand people, at the old Baptist Tabernacle.

The boy, who is advertised as "the world's youngest preacher," and who has not yet passed the third grade in school, addressed his audience for a number of minutes.

He followed in the footsteps of many of the full-grown, full-fledged clergy by opening his talk with a shot at a newspaper story concerning himself, saying that it was incorrect in stating that he had preached in New York and Chicago. He has simply been invited to preach in those cities, he said.

The boy asserted that at the age of two years he was able to differentiate between right and wrong. Now at six years he is confirmed to the Methodist faith, and feels like shouting, whenever he preaches of Jesus Christ, he said.

The boy called upon his hearers to save men from the influence of whiskey by preventing its sale. The use of snuff, the young preacher said, is just as bad as the use of whiskey. Snuff, he asserted, was the product of saloon floor sweepings and the breeder of disease.

Forcible Feeding Uncivilized, Says Bishop of London

(By Associated Press.)

LONDON, July 6.—The Bishop of London, who recently visited Holloway Jail to investigate the conditions of imprisoned suffragettes, writes a long letter to the Times explaining his attitude on the suffrage question. He says he is strongly opposed to militancy but is anxious that governments own weapons should not be tainted; therefore is strongly opposed to forcible feeding, and believes it should cease.

He contends that all analogies drawn from the forcible feeding of insane prisoners are false when applied to resisting and struggling women and that the process is "incompatible with Christian civilization."

In conclusion the bishop says:

"Our sympathy should go out to the great law-abiding army of women, who for years have endeavored to obtain the vote by constitutional means."

Mrs. Dacre Fox, the suffragette leader, after interrupting the service at Westminster Abbey today, with a protest against forcible feeding, was arrested under the "cat and mouse" act.

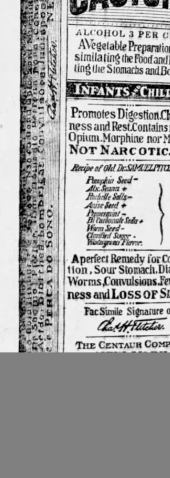
Don't Poison Baby.

FORTY YEARS AGO almost every mother thought her child must have PAREGORIC or laudanum to make it sleep. These drugs will produce sleep, and A FEW DROPS TOO MANY will produce the SLEEP FROM WHICH THERE IS NO WAKING. Many are the children who have been killed or whose health has been ruined for life by paregoric, laudanum and morphine, each of which is a narcotic product of opium. Druggists are prohibited from selling either of the narcotics named to children at all, or to anybody without labelling them "poison." The definition of "narcotic" is: "A medicine which relieves pain and produces sleep, but which in poisonous doses produces stupor, coma, convulsions and death." The taste and smell of medicines containing opium are disguised, and sold under the names of "Drops," "Cordials," "Soothing Syrups," etc. You should not permit any medicine to be given to your children without you or your physician know of what it is composed. CASTORIA DOES NOT CONTAIN NARCOTICS, if it bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.



Letters from Prominent Physicians addressed to Chas. H. Fletcher.

Dr. J. W. Dinsdale, of Chicago, Ill., says: "I use your Castoria and advise its use in all families where there are children."

Dr. Alexander E. Mintie, of Cleveland, Ohio, says: "I have frequently prescribed your Castoria and have found it a reliable and pleasant remedy for children."

Dr. Agnes V. Swetland, of Omaha, Nebr., says: "Your Castoria is the best remedy in the world for children and the only one I use and recommend."

Dr. J. A. McClellan, of Buffalo, N. Y., says: "I have frequently prescribed your Castoria for children and always got good results. In fact I use Castoria for my own children."

Dr. J. W. Allen, of St. Louis, Mo., says: "I heartily endorse your Castoria. I have frequently prescribed it in my medical practice, and have always found it to do all that is claimed for it."

Dr. C. H. Glidden, of St. Paul, Minn., says: "My experience as a practitioner with your Castoria has been highly satisfactory, and I consider it an excellent remedy for the young."

Dr. H. D. Benner, of Philadelphia, Pa., says: "I have used your Castoria as a purgative in the cases of children for years past with the most happy effect, and fully endorse it as a safe remedy."

Dr. J. A. Boarman, of Kansas City, Mo., says: "Your Castoria is a splendid remedy for children, known the world over. I use it in my practice and have no hesitancy in recommending it for the complaints of infants and children."

Dr. J. J. Mackey, of Brooklyn, N. Y., says: "I consider your Castoria an excellent preparation for children, being composed of reliable medicines and pleasant to the taste. A good remedy for all disturbances of the digestive organs."

Talking Minister to Athens Set Big Task for Himself and Succeeded at It

(By Associated Press.)

LONDON, July 6.—According to the Athens correspondent of the Times, after the international commission declined to receive George Fred Williams, the American minister at Athens, he set himself the task of interviewing various persons, high and low, the ministers of Prince William of Wied, medical and naval officers, the commissioners, officers of the gendarmiere, Christians and Mohammedans, with the results set forth in his report, in which he says, referring to Prince William: "I am not afraid to match my efforts for freedom with his bloody rule before the great judgment seat."

KANSAS CITY, MEXICO AND ORIENT RY. SOLD

Reorganization Committee Pays More Than Six Million Dollars for Property

WICHITA, Kas., July 6.—The Kansas City, Mexico and Orient railway was sold here today for $6,001,000 to the reorganization committee representing the bondholders of the company. The bid was made by A. M. Wickwire, of New York City. There were no other bidders.

Application for the receivership of the Kansas City, Mexico and Orient railway, which the federal court sold here today to a reorganization committee of New York and London capitalists, was made before Judge John C. Pollock in the feedral court in Kansas City, Kan., March 7, 1912.

Eleven receivers were appointed to take over the company's affairs in Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas. Immediately afterward the holders of the company's stocks and bonds began work on plans for the refinancing and reorganization of the road, and $15,000,000 of European capital was raised for the purpose of finishing the road and putting it into operation from Kansas City to the Pacific coast of Mexico.

On April 27 last Judge Pollock, having been informed the reorganization committee had completed its plan for the rehabilitation of the Orient, ordered it sold for an amount not under $6,000,000.

It was announced that the new company, headed by Edwin Dickinson as president, will assume full management and will begin the work of tending the road from Wichita to Kansas City.

The "Plucking" Board.

Wide approval has greeted Secretary Daniels' sharp criticism of the so-called navy "plucking" board, and his announced purpose of asking that the law under which it was established be repealed. It is the practice of this board to retire annually a certain number of officers in order to make rapid promotions possible. This year fifteen high officers were dropped from service, although there was no evidence, as the Secretary says, "to show that they were not fitted for any naval duties, in the matter of habit, temperament and professional ability." Such procedure, Mr. Daniels truly condemns as "a tragic thing."

The retirement of capable officers, merely to hasten the promotion of others, is unjust and absurd. It is a reflection upon the officers forced out of service. Among those "plucked" this time all but one were in command of battleships. They all had honorable records, and were good for many years more of efficient service. But the public, not understanding the technical character of the "plucking" board is too likely to surmise that the officers were dropped for some real reason. It is inexcusable injustice, as Secretary Daniels declares, to expose any capable officer to such imputations.

Furthermore, this practice is contrary to the good of the service and is foolishly extravagant. The New York Evening Post well suggests that the possibility of being shelved on any first of July may become "a serious deterrant to professional ambition and diligence." The retired officers continue to receive three-fourths of the salary for the next higher grade, so that "the services of trained specialists are paid for but thrown away."

This unfair and ridiculous law was enacted under Mr. Roosevelt's administration, and at his instance. Secretary Daniels' suggestion that it be repealed should be carried promptly into effect.

At any rate, we will hardly be called on to intervene in Ireland.

In Mexico nobody seems to want to be president—that is, with Villa marching to the job.

We couldn't conceive of a worse civil war than civil war among the Irish. This means, too, that almost the entire population of the United States will enlist.

The Glorious Fourth had its significance also for Mexico, Albania, Colorado, Ireland, Hayti, suffragettes and a few others.

The trouble with the colonel doubtless was that he couldn't be an associate editor. It was too much like being vice president.

Fruits of Mediation.

"Mediation has not been a failure. Only by the narrowest construction can it be so considered. It came at a time when the air was full of war. The passage of our troops into the interior and the blockade of Mexican ports was imminent. American citizens in the Republic were in danger of their lives; egress was apparently impossible; tales of atrocities were prevalent; public opinion here and in Europe was convanced that conflict was unavoidable. But there has been no war. The exodus of American citizens was permitted. Men, women and children reached safety. Most of the stories of savage butcheries of our people were discredited. In the interim a better understanding of the situation was made possible. The immediate crisis was stripped of its menace."

This is the comment of the Philadelphia Public Ledger, a newspaper that vigorously opposes the Administration on a number of economic policies, but which is fair enough and intelligent enough to recognize statemanly work in a national crisis. The fact is, the results of the mediation conference are so substantial and far-reaching that no just-minded observer can ignore them. Compared to the achievements hoped for, and to those still possible, they are incomplete results; but they are results none the less. The international side of the controversy has been peacefully adjusted. The dignity and honor of the United States have been maintained, without the enormous cost and sacrifice which war would have entailed. That alone is deep cause for satisfaction.

In addition to this, the Administration has lifted the diplomacy of the United States to a higher level of inernational respect. Its generous, straightforward dealing has disarmed Latin America of suspicion toward our country. It has engendered among the leading republics of this hemisphere a spirit of common counsel and common effort that bids fair to a large and beneficent part in the future.

Mexico is still a perplexing and serious problem. Many grave issues remain to be settled. But the work of the mediation conference has certainly simplified those issues. It has opened the way to a possible agreement between the warring factions. It has successfully exerted pressure upon the Huerta regime, and there is reason to believe that its influence upon the Constitutionalists has been marked. The end is not yet in sight, but there is a possibility, if not a probability, that the Wilson policy will yet restore Mexico to peace and orderly government.

Promoting South American Trade.

The announcement that the National City Bank of New York will establish branches at Rio Janeiro, Buenos Aires and Valparaiso, presages a new era of commerce between the United States and South America. The Germans and the English realized long ago the importance of providing banking facilities in the countries whose trade they desired, and to that fact must be ascribed very largely their pre-eminent success in the field of Latin-American business. They are prepared to accommodate the foreign merchant, they understand his needs and practices, and consequently they win his friendship and patronage.

So far as the United States is concerned, however, this service has heretofore been carried on, as one observer describes it, "in roundabout fashion, and generally through European banking establishments, a condition that has been a serious handicap and has placed us at serious disadvantage in competition with our trade rivals." The new Federal Reserve act takes account of these circumstances and authorizes banks to establish foreign branches, specifying the terms under which they may do so. The National City Bank of New York has decided to avail itself of this opportunity, and will make application to that end as soon as the Federal Reserve Board is organized.

Its example will doubtless be followed by other institutions, so that in time the United States will have facilities as ample as those of European countries for business transactions in South America. The Boston Transcript remarks in this connection:

> We have lacked the machinery to compete on equal terms, especially as regards ocean carriers and direct banking facilities. Perhaps the absence of the latter has been the most serious drawback of all and the present movement hopefully promises to correct it.
>
> The benefits of these proposed branches and agencies, which are also to be utilized as sources of information on commercial subjects, the National City Bank does not propose to monopolize. They will be available to other banks desiring them. The development of the new enterprise will be national in its scope and purpose. The bank by reason of its initial prominence is blazing the way and mapping out the plan.
>
> There is a general awakening in the United States to the importance of aggressive, organized, studious methods in seeking South American trade. Heretofore our merchants and manufacturers have relied too largely upon lucky chance. If we are to reap due benefits from the Panama canal this passive policy must be supplanted by one of thoughtful and vigorous endeavor.

Now we have a German aviation record of 21 hours and 49 minutes in the air without alighting, against the previous high record of 18 hours and 10 minutes made only last week. The America, with Lieut. Porte, should hardly need as much as 21 hours to accomplish its flight to the Azores. The nearly 22 hours now of record bring the undertaking more certainly than ever within the bounds of possibility.—New York World.

Gradually but surely the nation is awakening to the absolute necessity for intelligent, drastic and unremitting efforts to reduce the annual irrecoverable loss of millions, due to fire. Investigation will probably show that the origin of this latest conflagration, which was in a leather factory, was due to some apparently insignificant act of negligence which would not have occurred had ordinary and necessary precautions been taken. Nearly all fires are due to such causes and teach that caution and cleanliness must be cultivated as habits if we would be safe.—From the New York Commercial.

Shackleton's Story of New Polar Trip

Motor Sledges May Carry Expedition Across Antarctic at Seventy-five Miles a Day.

BY HERBERT CORBY.

LONDON.—"We will get off to a flying start with our motor sledges," said Sir Ernest Shackleton at the offices of the Imperial Transantarctic expedition. "We do not know what the surface may be on the Weddell sea side. But if it is as decently smooth as that on the Ross sea side—from which all previous parties have attacked the south pole—I can assure you offhand 400 miles straight away with them."

Knowing nothing about polar work or motor sledges, I had perhaps shown a doubt of his mechanical contraptions.

"Talks to Lees," said Shackleton. "He is the man in charge of the motor endof the expedition, and knows more about them than I do. Hi!—Lees."

Captain Orde Lees, R. N., opened the door of the outer office, where he had been at work over his drawings and correspondence, and I went out to look over his plans. To our right as we sat on the table was a huge model of Antarctic, so far as it is known, and drawn to scale. Dotted black lines across the white surface showed the routes of former expeditions. A brave little Union Jack told where Captain Scott had died.

"There are to be five motor-sledges," said Lees. "One will have a 55-horsepower Anzani motor and another a 40-horsepower motor of the same make. Each is equipped with a dual drive system. When there is no head wind they will use air propellers, just as are placed upon aeroplanes.

Sledges Tested in Norway.

"In seven days' hard driving in Norway these propellers proved thoroughly efficient. They are especially valuable during low temperatures, when the snow becomes loose as dry sand because of the intense cold. When a head wind or other condition prevents the use of these propellers a positive drive will be used. This is a toothed drum attached to the rear of the sledge, although no weight rests upon it. A system of spring compensations allows for inequalities of the surface.

"These sledges with a thirty-horsepower engine have towed a sledge weighing 400 pounds, with two men up, in addition to their own load of six men and supplies, at fifteen to twenty miles an hour. But on bad surface the engine power proved insufficient. Therefore the larger motors are now being installed. Two other motor tractors, equipped with positive drive only, have been made ready. These will klick along through the snow, towing one or two sledges at low speeds. They are geared to about eight miles an hour. All have variable gear and friction drive. A fifth sledge will be used, but it is as yet a secret. The air propellers are very large, in order to get the power required, rather than the high speed of an aeroplane. On good surfaces the aero-motor sledges have done twenty-two miles an hour with three men up, upon a 10 per cent upgrade.

"If we do seventy-five to one hundred miles a day we will be quite satisfied with the sledges," said Lees. "You see, we will have continually to be scouting ahead, looking for a safe route."

When necessary, the sledges will be abandoned and the man-hauled sledges resorted to, of course. But not until necessary. For the explorers will feel they are abandoning the comforts of home when they say goodby to the motors.

A CLOTHES DRYER.

"Did the boss tell you of the hot cupboard and the steam cooking plant?" asked Lees, with a smile in his blue eyes. "It'h a yankee trick that ought to tickle you folks in the states. You always like clever things."

The aero tractors are air cooled. In order to keep the carburetor from freezing, a hot cupboard has been built around the heart of the engine. This cupboard has been made so large that when the cams is made at night the perspiring mechanics underclothing of the explorers may be laced in it and thoroughly dried out. No one but a polar worker can imagine the comfort of this plan. Frank Marston, th eclothing expert, said:

"Generally you know, a man has to take off his wet socks and put them next to his skin at night to keep them from freezing. They never get really dry."

The smaller tractors are water cooled. It occurred to someone that the hot water in the jacket should be used. So that a cook stove was arranged upon them, on which victuals may be steam cooked en route. Even these "little crawling things," as Lees calls them, are expected to make fifty miles a day in good going. The sledges are all steered fish-fashion. On either side a flipper will be dropped into the snow when it is desirable to change the course. The only trouble experienced during the Norway try-out was from vibration, but it is believed this can be overcome.

"Mind you," said Lees, "motor-sledges are thoroughly practicable. They have been used in Sweden, though none was ever made as good as ours."

Oliver Wendell Holmes was strolling on the beach one day when he began chatting with a little girl who was building pyramids of sand. His charm of personality had its customary effect and the child soon slipped her hand in his and walked with him. By and by the little one said she must return to her mother.

"Good-by, my dear," said Mr. Holmes, "and when mother asks you where you have been, tell her that you have been walking on the beach with Oliver Wendell Holmes."

The great name was absolutely unknown to the child, but she recognized the courtesy in the words of her stranger friend and was not to be outdone. His pleasant smile and bow acquired a quaint gravity as imitated by the child. She replied:

"And when you go home and they ask you where you have been, tell them that you were walking on the beach with Mary Susanna Brown."

WRONG END TO

BY DR. FRANK CRANE.

(Copyright, 1914, by Frank Crane.)

The world has always gone at its evils wrong end to.

We want to be healthy. We do not want to be diseased. The chief energy of those who have applied themselves to ministering to these wants has been devoted to the disease end of the issue, and not to the health end.

The great body of physicians and scientists give themselves to the study of the abnormal. They chase the elusive germ, they endlessly classify symptoms. The average doctor has nothing to do with you until you fall ill.

The reviews and books upon disease are fat, respectable, and learned. The books and periodicals on health culture are not imposing. The general public looks upon the man who advocates hygiene and speaks of food, exercise, and breathing as more or less of a crank; while the man who knows sixteen kinds of stomach trouble and seventeen families of bacilli by name is decorated with capital letters by the university and hailed as a savant.

As a matter of fact health is nine-tenths the result of inner forces. It is the health-power that keeps the race strong; the disease-curing efforts of men have something, but very little comparatively, to do with it.

Health is more of a social and economic affair than a medicinal. Those who advocate "preventive medicine" see this; although the term is inapt, it is not medicine but health culture that does the business.

Clean up the dirty places, drain the swamps, give people livable dwellings, teach the young the truth about foods, and abolish food poisoners, and you create more health than all the disease dopers in Christendom can create.

We are psychologically wrong end to. Nature's dictum is: "Think about health. Or, better, live decently and don't think about the body at all."

Christian Science by taking this attitude has done no end of good, whatever we may think of its religious side.

And what is true of bodily is equally true of mental and spiritual health or ethics.

Up to date most of the reformers, apostles, and gospellers have occupied themselves principally in denouncing and opposing. Like the physicians, they study humanity's disorder and not its normality.

But moralists would do a hundred times more good if they would, for instance, approach the amusement question constructively and not as obstructionists. They cry out against dancing, gambling, drinking, theaters, movies, and any other institution of play. And they make little headway.

People don't want sin. They want fun. And that want is a proper functioning of the human creature. Let the moralists devise helpful amusements, provide wholesome dances, theaters, and photo-plays. In other words, let us apply ourselves to moral health-culture and not to eternally tinkering at moral morbidities.

Disease is complex, infinite. Health is simple, plain. "Thou art careful and troubled about many things; but one thing is needful."

"Tired of It"

(From the Albany Herald.)

An Atlanta newspaper, in announcing the entry of former Governor Joseph M. Brown as a candidate for the United States Senate against Senator Hoke Smith, leads off with this characteristically flamboyant paragraph:

> A bitter, exhaustive and finish fight between the Hoke Smith and "Joe" Brown factions in Georgia has been precipitated by the announcement of former Governor Brown, made at Marietta Wednesday, that he will be a candidate to succeed Senator Smith in the United States senate. Already the clans have commenced to gather and factional camp fires are being lighted "from Rabun Gap to Tybee Light," as they state such situations in Georgia.

This statement is at variance with most of the indications that we have been able to see in the state political firmament. It is certainly not borne out by conditions that may be readily observed down here in the splendid section of the state which we call God's Country.

The Herald doesn't pretend to be able to accurately forecast political sentiment for the entire state, and it certainly does not claim to know as much about which way the political wind is blowing, or is going to blow, as some of the newspapers and correspondents who hand out political "dope" from Atlanta seem to think they know, but we do claim to know something about "who's who" in Southwest Georgia and to be in position to feel the political pulse in this particular neck of the woods, and if we are not badly deceived the people amongst whom we circulate have grown tired of the old Hoke Smith-Joe Brown factionalism, and have already cut it out of all their political calculations for this year's campaign.

Not only have the sane and sensible men of affairs grown tired of the Smith-Brown feud, but they have realized the utter foolishness of it. Many of them candidly admit that they are ashamed of having permitted themselves to be narrowed and blinded by the foolish factionalism that characterized the state campaigns of the recent past, and are now choosing the candidates for whom they intend to vote without reference to the old factional lines.

Southwest Georgia's political sanity has been restored.

SUPPOSE!

Out in Kansas, where the wind blows, thirty prairie fires have been started by the action of the grass whipping against the wire fences. At least we in the effete east are asked to believe that such is the case. The statement is full of suggestion. Suppose the Bull Moose, with his ear to the ground, permits his chin whiskers to flap and whip in the prevailing winds of adversity, would it generate sufficient static electricity to start a conflagration? Suppose the trade winds should play among the hirsute decorations of Wall street with such vigor that a bright illumination should occur! Suppose the windy utterances of T. R. should sweep under the green baize door in the Outlook office and, humming and singing through the venerable beard of Dr. Lyman Abbott, set fire to the manuscript leaves of his memoirs!—New York World.

SPORTS IN THE COLLEGES

By Frederic J. Haskin

A reaction against the irrational athletic methods of American universities and colleges, which set in a short time ago, has found expression in the recently rendered report of a special committee to the National Collegiate Athletic association. The committee was chosen expressly to investigate, report upon, aid and encourage intercollegiate and recreative sports.

* * *

This committee, composed of Dr. H. Shindle Wingert, Ohio State university; Dr. Raymond G. Clapp, University of Nebraska, and Dr. Charles E. Hammett, Northwestern university, investigated the athletic methods and facilities of 150 collegiate institutions, ranging from small, comparatively unknown colleges to the great universities like Harvard and Columbia. The committee reported that altogether too much attention, time and money are being devoted all over this country to the overtraining of a few young athletes, while the physical welfare of the great mass of the student body fares second best, to a degree varying from systematic attention in some cases to a state of absolute abandonment in others.

* * *

The committee submitted facts and figures to show that the athletic training of the average American college student has been neglected, as a rule, for a great many years. A total of 111,000 students were enrolled in the 150 institutions investigated. Of these 18,000 belonged to, or were substitutes on the college teams, such as football, baseball, rowing, etc. On these 18,000 men about nine-tenths of the money appropriated for sports is spent. The other 92,000 (and their number is constantly increasing) get what is left.

* * *

It was found that about $1,100,000 is being spent every year on intercollegiate sports. The students who participated in them are three times as numerous as the few selected athletes. Nevertheless, most of the money was spent on the few. The great universities were found to be even more devoted to this policy. On the average, they appropriated $60 per athlete, and only $8 per student. The medium-sized universities and the small colleges do better, their proportion being $40 to $50 per athlete and $12 to $13 per student.

* * *

An estimate which the committee considers very conservative places the number of American university and college students who participate in any form of systematic and recreative exercise at only 20 per cent. They expressed the opinion that the percentage probably is considerably lower than that. This means that a great deal over 80 per cent of the young men and young women who are given expensive college courses by fond parents are doing absolutely nothing, consciously at least, to develop a proper bodily foundation for the use of their costly mental equipment.

* * *

It seems that of 143 universities and colleges, fifty-three, or 37 per cent, are not raising a hand to encourage the kind of physical exercise that the students can use after they leave college. A little over one-half, 52 per cent, make use of games such as baseball, football, handball, volleyball, golf and tennis. Corrective exercises are given by 21 per cent. Hygienic lectures are given by 14 per cent. Only 5 per cent demand swimming, and 4 per cent utilize "hikes." And in all the United States there are but two colleges that teach dancing. Even in such an inexpensive sport as tennis, only 65 per cent of our institutions of learning provide courts for the students.

* * *

There are any number of sports in which all students can participate, and most of which can be followed after they go out into the world. Tennis and baseball, for instance, do not need much money for equipment. Gymnasiums ought to be attached to every gymnasium. Most gymnasiums do have this convenience, but the students are not forced to learn to swim. Boxing, wrestling, fencing, bowling, dancing, club swinging, setting-up exercises, walking and hiking do not cost much. Most of these forms of exercise can be followed all through the life of the students, whereas a majority of our college graduates go into business and professional activities with fixed habits of a non-athletic nature.

* * *

Another point brought out by the investigation concerned the petted athlete himself. For four or five years he is trained down to a very fine point, not primarily for his own benefit, but in order to make a spectacular display which shall redound to the sporting honors of his alma mater. When he leaves college he goes into lines of endeavors that make no provision for his athletic prowess. Permission to "cut" work in a rarity in business. No shower baths and rubbing tables decorate the counting houses of the nation. Accustomed to several years of special athletic activity, the ex-college boy cannot fall back upon it in his new life, and in such data as there is on the subject shows he seldom takes up a special routine of milder exercise. He lives on his past glory and grows fat.

* * *

The athlete also suffers from overtraining. While the great number of his fellow-students are being more or less neglected, he, with his own enthusiastic consent, is permitting the present system to put a very heavy strain on his heart, lungs, kidneys and muscles. The efficiency of those who overreach athletically in college is grievously impaired in after life. Unfortunately, there seem to be no statistics to show what percentage of the men who died at a premature age had been gold medal athletes in their college days. What statistics do show, however, is that as a rule it is the average student, whose major purpose was study, with athletics as a minor course, who makes the greatest success in life.

* * *

It has been suggested that our universities and colleges should have physicians on the staff—for the special purpose of guarding the health of their athletes. As it is now, the care of the men devolves upon lusty trainers and hustling young students called "managers." Whenever a member of the team or the crew falls from undue strain a physician is called in, but not until then. American medical journals are quite severe when discussing this phase of the problem, a recent issue of one of the most influential journals saying:

* * *

"Obviously, appropriate training furnishes another safeguard against the dangers of athletic overdoing. Much of what is called 'training' in this country is, however, a combination of unscientific and sometimes irrational dietetics with psychic quackery."

* * *

Who is to blame for the neglect of the great student body on the one hand the unhealthy exaltation of the favored few athletes on the other hand? Some say it is the general public, that demands sensational contests, that must have the intensely exciting contests. Others blame the faculties of our universities and colleges, charging them with neglecting the physical well being of the under-graduate body. Again there are others who point to the dominance of the competitive spirit, a dominance that develops naturally unless kept within bounds.

* * *

Perhaps all three factors are to blame. It is not likely, however, that the average faculty can justly be censured on the charge of neglect. They have ever been slow to acquiesce in giving undue prominence to organized athletics in contradistinction to the real purpose of an institution of learning. Rather, it would appear that the combination of the first and third factors has overwhelmed, or at least silenced for the moment, the sane spirits in our university councils.

Now the Homekeeper Comes Into Her Own! Tomorrow We Inaugurate Atlanta's Best Known Furniture Event

The Blue Tag Sale Of Furniture

With Very Few Exceptions (Contract Goods) Every Piece of Furniture in this Five Story Store Can Be Bought at a Fine Saving

When the doors are opened tomorrow the classic event of the furniture business in Atlanta will be on.

The Chamberlin-Johnson-DuBose Co. Blue Tag Sale---it has become institutional with us, with Atlanta.

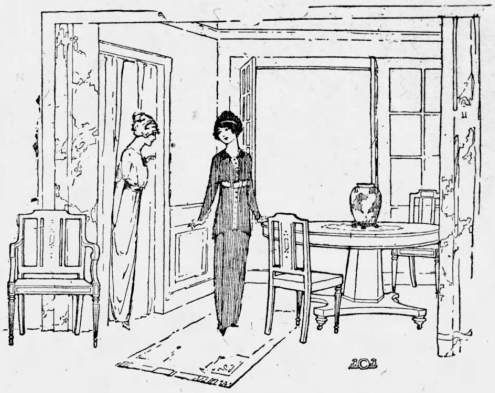
Each year it has surpassed itself, a splendid record, one that speaks well our sincerity of purpose, our methods of doing things.

The Blue Tag Sale is even more to our furniture business than the July Clearaways are to the dry goods.

Its scope is broader, its appeal greater.

During the Blue Tag the rule is that everything shall be reduced, the exception is the contract goods on which we have agreed to maintain prices.

It is the time we reduce stocks and start over---and with that single purpose in mind we go at prices with a vengeance.



This year the resulting savings run into thousands of dollars.

And the Savings Are On the Kind of Furniture that Makes for a Better Home

We selected every stick of it to sell at its former prices. It is, then, the survival of the fittest, the fittest we could find to take its place in this store that works upon the principle that full value in merchandise is the only fair exchange for your money.

Buy furniture now! Store it away if you must, buy it now!

The kind of furniture the Blue Tag brings, the great fine selection it offers compel the interest of every homekeeper who will need furniture within the next six months.

The list below serves to give an idea of the variety and immensity of the affair---use it as a guide if you will, but it is by no means complete. It would require a great spread of newspaper to list and describe the furniture that bears Blue Tags.

Interesting Meeting Of Civic Club

The July meeting of the Third Ward Civic club was held Friday at the band stand in Grant park. Dr. Florence T. Truax, the newly elected president, presided.

According to a previous arrangement, the roll was called, and each member responded with her sentiment as to what she consided the most practical and necessary work for the club to undertake, and she also expressed what, in her judgment, was the greatest need of the ward as a whole. The discussion which followed this symposium was of the greatest interest. It was decided to hold an evening meeting to which the men of the ward shall be invited, in order to put before them the problems and needs of the Third ward. It is hoped that in this way both men and women will join in a concerted effort to make the Third ward an attractive and healthful place of residence.

ASK YOUR NEIGHBOR

So many thousands of women have been restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound that there is hardly a neighborhood in any city, town or hamlet in this country wherein some woman has not found health in this good old-fashioned root and herb remedy. If you are suffering from some womanly ill, why don't you try it?—(Advt.)

Straws, Felts and Panamas Cleaned and Repaired. Best Work. BUSSEY, 28 1-2 Whitehall

What Anne Rittenhouse Says

NEW YORK.—Every woman has a vacation in summer; if she does not she is foolish. It may be spent on a farm, at a simple mountain resort, on famous beaches, or a fashionable hot weather place, but she needs clothes for it.

Wherever she goes, she wants to get away from gowns and wraps and hats that have marched with her through the other part of the summer. She may not be able to buy a new wardrobe, or discard the clothes she owns, even for the time being, but she can add a few timely things that will give her a sense of rest from the routine of her wardrobe.

To begin with: why the coat suit of sombre material, and possibly woolen fabric? She has many opportunities to wear it during the rest of the season, for if she is like the rest of American womankind, she adopts it as a sort of uniform.

She may argue that all places are not cool at all times, and that the usual muslin frocks are not suitable; but the answer to that argument is the separate linen skirt and the colored sweater; and parenthetically, isn't it a pity that no other name prevails for this garment? One does not like the sound of the usual word for it; it has unpleasant suggestions that hark back to tis first usage and by which it got its name, but so far, it is the only name in constant use over here. The French word golfine does not get a foothold.

Always the Separate Skirt.

The woman who does not travel often or far is not cognizant of the popularity of the plain wash skirt of linen or crash, of satin or thin serge, with its accompanying wash blouse of muslin. She thinks that a fashionable resort must call for elaborate muslins, for organdies, for crepe de chines, whereas the travelled woman who dresses in the last fashion is quite content with good looking simplicity. The laundry bill is not surprising when one wears a uniform of washable things, but that is always true in summer, no matter how one dresses, or where one lives.

Fashion has joined hands with good sense in adopting the plain skirt of linen, or even serge when it is to serve with a wash blouse, and be topped by a colored sweater or jaunty top coat. Once the designers tried out the pleated linen skirt, also one with a tunic, but after women gave them a short trial, their end was overthrown. They would not lend themselves to the tub or to the hot iron.

Even on the chilliest days it is quite good taste to wear this wash skirt, for one can always be warm enough with the sweater or loose coat. One's choice is between these two for cool days out of town. Women who are able to be reckless with their purses, buy both garments and alternate between them, but the woman of simple means would choose the sweater, because it is cheaper and it does not go out of style with the seasons.

Bright Colors in Sweaters.

The white sweater has evidently gone into oblivion, but that fact need not fill a woman with despair if she owns a good white one and is clever at dyeing. If she fears to do the trick herself, the dyeing establishments will do it for her at a reasonable price.

Bright orange, Chinese blue, martine red, mandarin yellow, hunter's pink, are among the chosen colors for these garments. And with them, one carries a paper parasol of the Japanese kind.

The Ladies' Guild of the Church of the Holy Comforter will give an ice cream festival at Peryor and Palmetto streets on Thursday, July 9, from 5 to 10 o'clock. The public is invited to attend.

A MISUNDERSTANDING

Because we have the reputation of doing the highest class optical work in the South, some have the idea we sell nothing but extremely high-priced glasses.

It is true we sell more fine gold glasses than any other optical house in the United States for the amount of business we do; it is also true that we can sell you as good a pair of glasses for $2.50 as can be bought anywhere for that amount of money.

We give you the same careful examination and care as though you bought the most expensive glasses we make, but if you need the service of an oculist we so advise.

Ask anybody who has dealt with us how we conduct our business.

BY AND ABOUT WOMEN

Mrs. Douglas Crane, one of the latest metropolitan dancers, gives the following advice: Know the maxixe, revel in the one-step, glory in the intricacies of the waltz, cultivate rhythm. Just dance at least twice daily. Then watch for good health to replace nerves.

Mrs. Nathaniel Keay, of Philadelphia, is heading a movement to change the school system of teaching history. "We're going to try and have the moving picture system put through in the grammar grades," says Mrs. Keay.

Illinois club women cheered till they cried in the biennial of the Federation of Women's clubs held in Chicago this month when the suffrage indorsement was passed by the body.

"It should be a state's prison offense to raise a child in a flat," says Miss Lutie E. Stearns, member of the Wisconsin state library board. "It's all right to talk about home economics," she says, "but what our cities need are real homes and not flats."

The General Federation of Women's clubs has passed a resolution urging its members to promote the introduction of simple and dignified forms of dancing.

LITTLE STORIES FOR BEDTIME

BY THORNTON W. BURGESS.

When at last Danny and Nanny Meadow Mouse were sure that Farmer Brown's boy had gone away they sat down and talked things over. Nanny wanted to move right away. "Why, that dreadful giant may come back any minute and carry our babies away!" she said.

Danny shook his head, "No," said he. "If he meant to take them away he would have done it when he had them in his hands. Besides, didn't he put our house back and then put back all the cornstalks? If he had meant us any harm he wouldn't have done that. Do you know, Nanny, I believe that this is the safest place anywhere for us."

Nanny couldn't make herself believe so, but she didn't know of any place to move to, and so finally she agreed that they would stay there until the babies were big enough to travel. So she at once began to patch up the roof where Farmer Brown's boy had broken it open, and presently it was quite as good as new. But, though nothing happened, and Farmer Brown's boy kept away, Nanny could never feel quite easy. Danny did, however. He had learned all about how Farmer Brown's boy had set Chatterer, the Red Squirrel, free after catching him in a trap, and how he had taken care of Mrs. Grouse when he found her a prisoner under the icy crust during the terrible cold weather of the winter, so now Danny made up his mind that Farmer Brown's boy was really a friend, and not an enemy at all, and he didn't worry about him any more.

But he had other worries, did Danny Meadow Mouse. You see, those four babies—Teeny, Weeny, Midget and Mitegrew very fast, and it didn't seem any time at all before they were poking their little, soft, blunt noses out of the door of their little house the minute the backs of their father and mother were turned. This made Danny and Nanny very anxious, for they were afraid that while they were away after their food the little scamps might stray off and get lost. Then, too, those precious little scamps did a lot of squeaking as they played together, and this made their father and mother anxious that they didn't know what to do. You see, they were afraid that some one with sharp ears would hear them along and hear. But nothing they could say to Teeny, Weeny, Midget and Mite, and not even boxing their ears, made a bit of difference. You see, they were so full of life and fun that they just had to make a noise.

It wasn't long before they were playing all about in the old pile of cornstalks. It was great fun. There was no end of places to play hide-and-seek, and you know that is the favorite game with all little mice. And the liveliest and smartest of the four was little Mite, he of the extra short tail. Now, just as soon as little meadow and forest people are big enough to begin to play they have to go to school. I mean by that, that while they are playing they have to be learning as well. So as soon as their babies began to play but side of the house Danny and Nanny began to teach them things it was very necessary that they should know. The first of these game-lessons was called "look-run-and-dodge."

Danny made them play this a great deal. He told them that if they wanted to grow up there was no surer way of doing so than by learning just how to play this game. They would all hide near some tiny, open place, and then one of them would try to cross it without being caught by the others. The first thing to do was to look and listen and try to find out just where the others were hiding. The next thing to do was to pick out a hiding place on the other side of the little open place. The last thing of all was to suddenly scamper across just as fast as legs could go, not directly to the chosen hiding place, but to one side of it, and then at the very last minute dodge into it. It was a very exciting game. Danny used to pretend that he was Reddy Fox or Old Man Coyote, and would go off to give the others a chance to hide. Then he would come tip-toeing back and try to catch one of them. So they played and learned at the same time until pretty soon they wanted to go out into the great world.

If he meant to take them away he would have done it when he had them in his hand.

EDITOR DENIES VICTIMS OF BOMB I. W. W. MEMBERS

Detectives Now Searching for Only Man Who Escaped in Fatal Explosion

NEW YORK, July 6.—Detectives today were searching for Michael Murphy, nineteen years old, the only member of the group of free speech advocates who escaped with his life from the fatal explosion that wrecked the tenement at 1626 Lexington avenue, Saturday morning.

Murphy disappeared after being in the hands of the police before they were aware of the identity of the victims of the explosion. It is believed he might be induced to throw some light on the cause of the explosion and perhaps explain why alarm clocks and other things used in the making of bombs were kept in the apartments.

Louise Berger, step-sister of Carl Hansel, one of the dead men, who lived in the flat where the explosion occurred, remains firm in her first story that she knew nothing about what happened prior to the explosion and denied that she knew explosives were kept in her rooms.

Miss Berger, Alexander Berkman and other leaders of the free speech movement with which Caron, Hansen and Berg, the victims of the explosion, were identified, told the police they believed the men were killed by a mob sent to Caron by an enemy. They declared the three men were martyrs to a cause and as such they proposed to honor them in death with a public funeral service in Union Square.

James J. Ettor, an Industrial Worker of the World organizer, said today that Caron had never been a member of the I. W. W. and that the organization did not approve of his methods of verbal attacks on John D. Rockefeller, Jr., at Tarrytown.

After the inquest today Berkman will put in a claim for the bodies of the three men.

Fatal Explosion Will Not Postpone Trials

(By Associated Press.)

TARRYTOWN, N. Y., July 6.—Nine associates of the three men and one woman killed in New York on Saturday by the premature explosion of a bomb were to be arraigned in court here today on charges growing out of their demonstrations against the Rockefellers, father and son. Two who were defendants in this case—Arthur Caron and Charles Berg—died in the explosion.

Special guards surrounded the court room and extra guards patrolled the always closely watched Rockefeller estate near here. There was talk for a time of postponing today's hearing because of the excitement created by the bomb tragedy, but the town officials, after a conference with the New York police, decided to proceed with the cases. A large crowd of the prisoners' sympathizers was expected.

Mrs. S. C. Dobbs Is Dead

GRIFFIN, Ga., July 6.—Mrs. S. C. Dobbs, died Saturday afternoon at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. W. A. Chastain, after an illness of several days. The funeral services were held yesterday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock from the residence, conducted by Rev. J. E. Sammons, pastor of the First Baptist church. The body was carried to Athens this morning for interment. The services at the grave will be conducted by Dr. W. H. Key, of Monroe, assisted by Rev. S. R. Grubbs, of Athens.

Mrs. Dobbs was the widow of the late Colonel S. C. Dobbs, and was one of the best known and loved ladies of Georgia. She is survived by the following children: Mrs. M. H. Layton, of Montgomery, Ala., Messrs. W. L. and J. E. Dobbs, of Monroe, and Mrs. W. A. Chastain, of Griffin, with whom she had lived for several years.

Was a King's Hiding Place

(Christian Science Monitor.)

Discovery has been made in a village in Herefordshire, England, where, hidden in the old oak roof timber of a cottage a curious contrivance, resembling a bellows was brought to light. It is made of wisps of straw, tied together and held in place by split brambles and is in fairly good condition. Considering its age, it is yet strong and rigid. This cottage, known as Double Cottage, has always been credited with a history, as one of the places where Charles II was hidden while flying from Cromwell and his army after the royalist defeat at Worcester. The presence of the immense straw beehive was unsuspected until now. One theory prevalent in the village is that the king concealed himself in the barns until danger had passed, and another that it was used as a safe place for the keeping of the royal jewels. It is known as a matter of history that Charles II actually stayed for a short time at Mornington Court, to which Double Cottage is adjunct. The cottage must therefore have been familiar to him. This fact gives some color to the notion that in troubled times the king might have sought shelter within its walls.

Lord's Mobile Gulls Open Four-Game Series With Crackers Today

Bris. Lord's Gulls Open Four-Game Series Today

Team Arrives Here After Even Break With Lookouts—Hogg and Williams Carded to Pitch First Game — Battle Begins at 3:45

By Innis Brown

Direct from Chattanooga, where they put in the greater part of last week, knifing, and in turn getting knifed by the Lookouts, the Mobile Gulls are in the city to begin a four-game engagement with Manager Bill Smith's Crackers. Lord's birds managed to break even with the Moosemen, since they invaded the Lookout stronghold, half a game back of the Tennesseeans, and left with the same margin separating them from the leaders. The present series will be played in three days, a double-header, being scheduled for Wednesday. Tuesday will be Ladies' day for this series.

It is likely that Manager Smith will use Mutt Williams in the opening game today, while Bradley Hogg is scheduled to fling for the Gulls. Hogg opened for the gulf delegation on their last series here, and the Crackers got to him early in the contest, and took his measure. However, the ex-Mercer star has always made it tough going for the locals, and they will need to be after him all the time to win this afternoon's game.

The appearance here of the Gulls will carry considerable interest because of the publicity that has recently been given Larue Kirby. The swatting outfielder has been clubbing with the best in the league all season, alternating in the lead with McCormick and Pete Knisely, of Birmingham. Just at present he is third in the batting race. However, his chief bid for fame just now is the fact that Manager Hank O'Day of the Cubs, recently made an offer of $10,000 for him for immediate delivery. On his last appearance here, Kirby did some very good batting, but his work with the stick was not sensational.

Just in this connection, it is a rather interesting fact to note that last season, when Dave Robertson was the sensation of the Gulls, he never did any of his heavy hitting at Ponce de Leon. Occasionally he smashed out a safe one, but his work here would never have landed him up around the top. As a matter of fact, Harry Welchonce snatched the lead from him in the last series of games which were played here. Had Robertson hit as well here in that one series as did Welchonce, he would surely have landed the Evans trophy which went to the Cracker captain.

Concerning O'Day's offer for Kirby attention may be called to the fact that the Cubs are now playing the best ball of any team in the National league. A month ago, O'Day's charges were far down in the lists, and were virtually counted out of the race. However, during the past thirty days they have been going at break-neck speed, and are now in second place. It looks now as though they are the only team in a position to give the Giants a run for their money.

Doubtless this spurt has afforded O'Day many a good laugh. Columns and columns of space have been used by different scribes to tell how the Cubs had disintegrated and gone to pieces, and were only a shadow of the once mighty machine. It has even been pointed out that Frank Schulte is fast slipping, and that when he is gone the great machine of old will have disappeared entirely and have been supplanted by a bunch of sorry second raters. In fact, the bunch headed by O'Day has been sitting by listening to their own obituary for two months or more, yet they have come to life and are making it exceedingly hard for all who cross their path.

The Cubs are still separated from the Giants by a good wide margin; in fact, they have won the same number of games, but have lost eight more than the Gothamites. But the Chicagoans are just beginning a two weeks' siege on their home grounds, while the New Yorkers are hitting the road for a like period. This trip covers an invasion of the west, where the Giants tackle Pittsburg, St. Louis and the Cubs. It will depend largely on how O'Day's charges come out against the league leaders as to whether they are going to have a look-in later in the race. If they get three of their games with McGraw's men, and can get any help from their other western brothers, they may yet make trouble for the Giants.

While McGraw has succeeded in establishing a good wide margin between his crew and the rest of the field, the Athletics in the American league are finding it pretty hard to shake loose from the field in the American league. Just at present they are leading the Tigers by a margin of 39 points.

Washington and Chicago are only 18 points back of Detroit, while Boston and St. Louis are trailing the latter very closely. In fact, the American league race is just about as tight as the scramble here in the Southern league. Either one of six teams could doubtless grab the league within the period of one week, provided they could run up a string of six straight victories, at the pace the others are going just now.

The Tigers are making their splurge just now without the service of Ty Cobb, who is out of the game because of an injury to a thumb sustained in a brawl with a Detroit butcher. With Tyrus back in the game, the Detroiters will be much more formidable, and it is not at all unlikely that they will overhaul the Mackmen. Mack's hurlers, with the exception of his two old warhorses, Bender and Plank, are not doing extra well, and Colonel Mack is finding need for all his strength in keeping his charges out in front. It is possible that a western club may cut in on the big series next fall, after all, to judge from the present standing of the race.

Vols Purchase Glen Liebhart

NASHVILLE, Tenn., July 6.—It is announced today that Nashville has taken Pitcher Glen Liebhard, of Memphis, at the waiver price, $400. He will report in a few days.

The release of Liebhard was made necessary by the recent addition of Pitcher Buck O'Brien. Liebhard was a member of the Memphis club during the reign of Charlie Babb, and was drafted by Cleveland. He returned to Memphis last season, after pitching for several years in the American association.

Journal Trims Aragon Team

ARAGON, Ga., July 6.—The crack Journal team of the Gate City league trimmed the local nine here Saturday afternoon 3-2. It was one of the best games of the season and was witnessed by a large crowd.

Haines was on the mound for The Journal and pitched consistent ball. While he allowed more hits than his opponent he kept them well scattered. Watson in right field and Ewing at short for the paper lads featured the game with their brilliant fielding.

TENSEST MOMENTS IN SPORTS
NO. 3---WHEN OUIMET WON OUT

BY HUGH S. FULLERTON

America seemed overthrown, beaten. The greatest golfers of the United States had fallen before the magnificent play of Vardon and Ray, the English professionals, and on the afternoon of September 19, 1913, hope seemed dead. Vardon and Ray had swept the field on the final eighteen holes of the greatest tournament known in America and had finished their play—tied with their scores 304 strokes each.

Gathered around the eighteenth green in front of the clubhouse lawn at Brookline, Mass., were 5,000 rather downcast followers of the game, lamenting politely the overthrow of their favorites by the two wonderful English golfers who stood already receiving the congratulations of friends. In the clubhouse the wagering was lively as to whether Vardon or Ray would win the play-off of their tie on the following day.

A counting of scores showed that, unless one of the half dozen golfers who were on their fourth eighteen-hole round performed a miracle, Vardon's and Ray's 304 total could not be eclipsed.

Suddenly one came running from far across the greens bearing tidings. A buzz of excitement and renewed hope ran through the crowd. The Englishmen listened tolerantly.

The word was that Francis Ouimet, a high school boy of Brookline, only nineteen years old, was coming homeward over the last nine holes, playing the most astounding golf of the tourney. A three, a two, a four, he was cutting down his score by beating par and playing marvelously. The word came from the fifteenth tee that Ouimet had reached there with a total score of 290 and that if he could make the last four holes in one below par he could tie Vardon and Ray.

Behind Ouimet a swarm of friends marched over the sodden links, silent, yet palpitating with excitement. The boy faced the 370-yard fifteenth coolly, a drive, a perfect approach, a moment of tense anxiety and he holed a long putt and took the hole in three.

The news from that green stirred the crowd again. Men and women poured from the clubhouse and lawn to bank around the final green. The sixteenth is short, 125 yards, but ticklish, and Ouimet, driving the edge of the green, rolled his approach dead and holed out in three. The seventeenth is 350 yards. He drove perfectly, chipped an approach shot onto the green, took two perfect putts—and the crowd at the clubhouse lawn surged forward.

Ouimet America's last hope was 410 yards away, with a chance to equal the record of the two greatest of English golfers—he a schoolboy and an amateur.

He turned and laughed as he stepped uopn the tee, laughed gleefully as a boy at play at the sight of strained, anxious faces around him. He stepped forward, addressed his ball an instant and with a sharp click he sped the ball low and far—a perfect drive and straight as a bee flies the ball came toward the horse shoe of excited persons.

As he came leading the line of the gallery, Ouimet exchanged a laughing sally with his caddy and, choosing his iron, he snipped the head of a dandelion as he walked. He chipped the ball true and high, clearing the pit and guardian mound and lay 35 feet from the cup.

Never in golfing history has such a situation arisen. The open championship depended upon the next shot. If Ouimet could make that put he was king of the world's golfers, conqueror of the greatest the world could send. Yet, smiling, he turned and nodded to a little woman, his mother, who was following him over all the course. The smiled back.

The boy, still smiling, dried his hands, took his putter, and, without the quiver of a muscle, studied the slight slope of the green and rolled a wondrous put toward the hole.

As the ball rolled the crowd held its breath. It orlled straight, true, swerved a little, just touched the rim of the cup and rolled three feet beyond. An instant later Ouimet rolled down the put and tied Vardon and Ray.

The ethics of golfing ceased. The crowd swarmed upon the smiling schoolboy, and in the first rank came Vardon and Ray to wring his hand.

"Great golf," said Vardon.

And the next day the schoolboy, still smiling, played off the tie and defeated the great English veterans.

WHAT BIG LEAGUERS DID SUNDAY

It fell to Rube Benton's lot to check the losing streak of the Reds. The ex-Lookout was in fine form and held the Browns to three hits. Moran led the batting attack on the Browns with two singles and a home run. The Reds ran bases at will on Catcher Snyder, stealing six times.

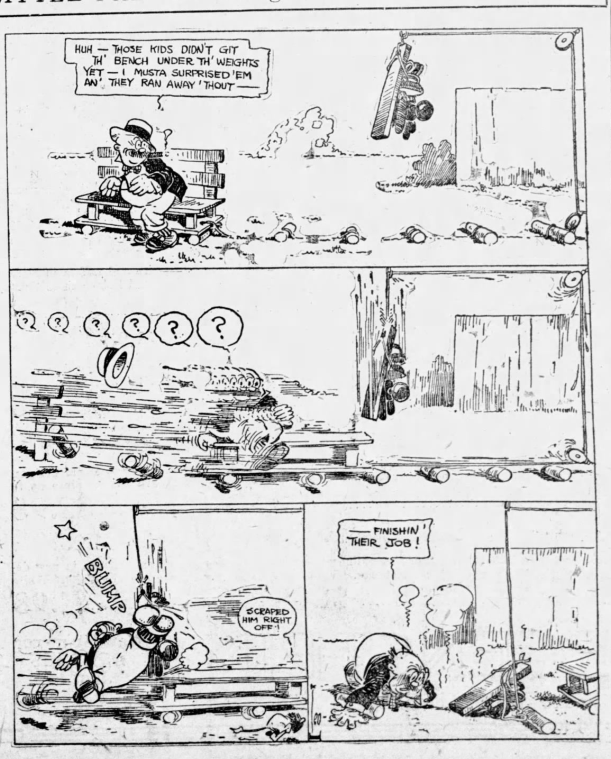
Pitcher Hendrix, of the Chicago Federal league team, won his own game in the third round when he poled out a home run scoring Farrell ahead of him. He allowed Kansas City but four hits.

Ed Walsh worked seven innings against Cleveland. He allowed three hits and issued three free passes which netted the Naps three runs. He was taken out in the seventh to let a pinch batter hit. Faber finished the game, Chicago winning 6-3.

St. Louis won a double-header from the "Cobbless" Tigers. The first game went fourteen innings. Hamilton traveled the entire route for the Browns and gave up but eight hits. In the first affair Bush made four of the Tigers' eight hits.

The Cubs defeated the Pirates in the tenth inning. Heinie Zimmerman walked, stole second, went to third on Hyatt's wild throw and scored on a sacrifice fly.

LITTLE PAL---He Thought There Was a Mistake



Gulls Leading Pennant Chase

Charleston Jumps From Third Place to First During Past Week

SAVANNAH, Ga., July 6.—The leadership of the South Atlantic league again changed hands during the past week, largely through inability to win from Charleston and Columbia. Columbus dropped from first place to a tie for third with Columbia, while Charleston moved from a tie for third into first position. Columbus lost three straight games to Charleston and two out of three to Columbia. Charleston had a clean record for the week, winning four and losing no games.

The holiday business of the league received a blow Saturday when rain prevented both of the scheduled games between Charleston and Macon at Charleston from being played. At other points on the circuit, however, the teams performed in both of their Fourth of July engagements before good crowds.

To make a place on the schedule for the Fourth of July games, only two games were scheduled on Thursday and Friday. Savannah and Albany and Jacksonville and Augusta performed on Thursday and Charleston and Macon and Columbia and Columbus on Friday.

The Jacksonville team has been unable to win consistently since the second half season started. This team started on the downward track during the final series of the first half season, after fighting hard with Charleston and Savannah for the leadership, and since the second half season started has never been farther from last place, which it now occupies than a tie for seventh. Savannah, which led the league at the end of the first half season now is tied with Augusta for fifth place. Albany is second and Macon seventh.

During the week just passed Macon won two games and lost two; Columbus won one, lost five, and Albany, Jacksonville, Columbia, Savannah and Augusta each won and lost three games.

Cubs Gaining Fast on Giants

Chicago Has Firm Hold on Second Place—Tigers Close in on Athletics

NEW YORK, July 6.—The Red Sox and the Cubs loomed up as dark horses in the two major league races last week.

New York, leading the National league, was out paced by Chicago, which topped the league in games won, gained a firm hold on second place and displayed a driving power that if kept up will make the team a dangerous contender for honors so long held by McGraw's men.

Boston, coming fast from behind in the American league struggle, pulled the Athletics' lead down to little more than a shade, beating them four games in five and then played Washington to a standstill in four games.

Aside from Chicago, no National league club now seems in position to give the Giants a battle for the lead. Cincinnati started the week well with a double victory over Pittsburg, but dropped four in a row to the Cubs. Pittsburg dropped to seventh place. The Cubs gave them the decisive push. St. Louis did fairly well, but mostly at the expense of the Reds and Pirates.

Aside from Chicago, Brooklyn made the best showing again outbatting the other clubs. Robinson's men are too far down however, to be prominent contenders in the immediate future. Philadelphia was hit hard by the Giants attack and fell to seventh place, while the Bostons fell back to early season's ways and lost six games in seven.

The American league race is far closer. It is possible for one of six clubs to work to the top by a sustained winning spurt. Detroit has worked up to within a little more than a game and a half of the leaders. Washington, after a sad time of it in the Philadelphia series, moved up at the expense of New York and held its own with Boston, being now only four games removed from the top.

Bright as seem Boston's chance, however, the prospects of the White Sox are not to be overlooked. St. Louis has lost ground but is still close enough to work into the running.

The only teams without a chance are the New Yorks and the Clevelands. Neither seems able to get going, although both have excellent material. These two clubs had a stirring battle for the cellar position, with Cleveland having the better of it.

The week of the Fourth was the busiest of the major league season. Rain prevented seven games but despite this the doubleheader crop ran the total number of games played up to 62. A crucial series between Chicago and Indianapolis featured the Federal league contest. For nearly two weeks the Hoosier team had held the lead, but Chicago kept right at their heels, a series with St. Louis putting Tinker's men within half a game of the lead. Chicago then went to Indianapolis and by winning three out of four games took the lead and held it.

Kent Pitches Well; Chicks Win

MEMPHIS, Tenn., July 6.—Morris Kent, recently secured from the Newark club of the International league, pitched Memphis to a 3 to 2 victory over Birmingham Sunday. Errors helped Birmingham to one run and bunched hits were responsible for the other. Mullen's single in the sixth brought in the two runs needed by Memphis to tie the score, and in the ninth, with two out, Dunckel singled and Wilson came home with the run that won.

Vols Cop Game From Pelicans

NASHVILLE, Tenn., July 6.—Nashville took an exciting game from New Orleans by a score of 5 to 4 Sunday. With the exception of the fifth, in which all of New Orleans' runs were made, Boland pitched great ball. Walker retired in the fifth inning as a result of being hit on the hand by Boland in the previous round, and Benn donated the winning run when he executed a wild pitch in the nonth with the bases full. The fielding of Starr, Williams and Hemingway featured.

Sardanapale Wins Another Big Race

PARIS, July 6.—The Prix Du President De La Republique run Sunday at Maisons-Laffitte, was won by Baron Maurice De Rothschild's Sardanapale, which last Sunday captured the Grand Prix De Paris. Sardanapale won by three lengths from J. Tissot's Djamy, with J. Davis' Fauche Le Vent third.

The race, at 1 mile, 4 1-2 furlongs, was valued at $22,600. In the betting Sardanapale was 13 to 4. Sardanapale has earned more than 1,000,000 francs ($200,000) in less than ten races, which is a new record for winnings.

Big Tournament for Local Tennis Players at Piedmont Next Week

DIANA DILLPICKLES IN "CHES NUTTE'S JOKE FALLS FLAT" A 4-REEL "SCREECHER" FILM

Local Amateurs Will Stage Big Tennis Tourney

Entries Are Being Received for Tournament to Be Played at Piedmont Park, Under Auspices of Atlanta Amateur Federation

Starting Monday of next week the first tennis tournament, for local amateurs only, ever attempted in the city of Atlanta will begin on the courts of Piedmont Park, and from the interest being manifested by numerous players, the tournament is already assured of success.

A big boost given the committee in charge of this tournament, was the kind donation of the Pennsylvania Rubber company of all the balls that the committee would need in pulling off the tournament. The balls that the Penn Rubber company will furnish the committee, are their hand-made domestic championship ball, and are considered by many as a very superior tennis ball.

The events to be played include the following: Men's state, men's doubles, junior singles, junior doubles, consolation singles for men, mixed doubles and possibly ladies' singles.

Eleven cups will be awarded the various winners by the Atlanta Amateur federation, under whose auspices the meet will be held.

The cups will be awarded in the following way: One to the winner in the men's singles, and one to the runner up; one to the winning team and the runner up in the men's doubles, one to the winner and one to the runner up in the junior singles, and one to the winning team and runner up in the junior doubles; one to the winner of the consolation round, and if the ladies' singles event is played, one each will be given to the winner and runner up in this event. Whether or not this last named event will be played, depends upon the number of entries received by the committee. One each will be given the winning team and the runner up in the mixed doubles event.

The entrance fee as fixed by the committee, will be 50 cents per player in each event, and must be paid before Saturday night, July 11. Entrance fees can be paid to Shelly Ivy, 119 Peachtree street.

The junior singles and doubles, which have been arranged for the boys that play on the various city courts, is one of the many features of the tournament. This event will be open for boys, who are under eighteen years of age, and over fourteen, and to the winners and runners up in both the singles and doubles, suitable cups will be given by the federation.

Entries will be received all this week and until Saturday night, when the entry list will close. For further information regarding the tournament see Shelly Ivy, 119 Peachtree.

Cedartown Beats Jacksonville Team

CEDARTOWN, Ga., July 6.—The local team defeated the crack nine from Jacksonville, Ala., here to the tune of 4 and 1. The game was a pitchers' battle from the first inning between Thompson, of Cedartown, and Robertson, of Jacksonville. Thompson struck out eight men and Robertson eleven.

Score by innings R. H. E.
Jacksonville . . . 000 001 000— 1 3 2
Cedartown . . . . 011 001 10x— 4 4 3

Was Out by a "Hare."

DALTON, Ga., July 6.—Right in the midst of an extra-inning baseball game between Dalton and Chickamauga here Saturday afternoon, with the score 1 to 1, and the spectators on their toes with interest, a small rabbit succeeded in relieving the tense situation by breaking in with an unusual stunt.

The rabbit had been "jumped" by some small boys, who gave chase and ran it directly into the diamond right at the time a batter drove out a hit. Straight toward the first baseman it bounded, and the rabbit, instead of the ball, found lodgment in his glove. Without stopping to think, he tagged first and started to toss the "ball" around when it began to wiggle. Although the umpire ruled the runner safe, it was a self-evident fact that the baseman had got him by a "hare."

The game went thirteen innings, resulting in a 3-2 tie. In the thirteenth, the visitors scored two runs, and the locals, in their half, with two down and third and second occupied, tied it up when Lasater, who had pitched an excellent game, connected for a two-base hit. It was a pitchers battle, with Duttery, of the visitors, having a shade the better of it.

THE SPORTLIGHT
BY GRANTLAND RICE

OR DON'T YOU.

One by one the players jump,
Bidding old-time homes adieu;
One by one admissions slump—
I don't care, do you?

We'd be sorry to see it if it were not for the fact that in the end a cleaner and a better game will come from all the tangle. By that time we believe both magnate and player will have acquired some additional information, viz.: That the game is bigger than both of them. Or, are we extreme optimists in believing that such information will last over a fortnight once matters get adjusted again?

Some day Moran will be champion of the world," writes William A. Brady. And some day we will write a greater poem than Gray's Elegy or Invictus. It may be a number of weeks or years, or even centuries. But when it happens—well, some day is right.

RECORD SMEARS.

In addition to being a season of upsets this has also been a season of caveins—a record number of the latter having already been established up to date.

The White Sox started the fashion. They began by winning a double handful of games, and then, just when the cheering was loudest, they proceeded to blow apart and drop something like 10 out of 12.

The Pirates came next. They won 14 out of 16 in their first rush, and when the hoarse huzzas of the home populace were rocking the rafters, they suddenly wheeled about and dropped 15 out of 17, to show they were just as swift in one direction as in another.

Griff and his Senators put across the next smear when they took a terrible flop out west, even going so far as to drop 4 straight in Cleveland, where Washington has always been supreme. And now come the Cincinnati Reds, who, after plunging headlong into second place, have tossed off 13 of their 15 games, and have started for the bottom even faster than they ever whizzed on toward the top.

Why a ball club good enough to fight its way into the lead or into second place should suddenly develop such amazing weakness as to lose nine-tenths of its games for a stretch of several weeks is beyond our narrow, limited ken. There is probably an answer, but we haven't guessed it About the only two clubs who haven't caved in badly at once time or another have been the Giants and Mackmen They haven't been playing the greatest ball ever shown, but they have been plugging steadily along, restraining any slump to a brief interval and thereby holding the lead No fast pace has put them at the top, but a steady jog has been sufficient against so many horrible detonations in rival camps.

ZIGZAG YEAR.

As far back as we can recall details, baseball has never seen such a zigzag year, where so many clubs looked like world beaters one week and like stuffed prunes the next.

It may be the golden glow from all the bullion the Feds are flaunting against the horizon has worked the quivering athletes into a fever with a touch of the pip. We can think of no other cause.

ARE YOU WISE TO THE FACT—

That Brooklyn has scored fewer runs than any other club in the National league?

That the Yanks have scored fifty runs less than any other team in either circuit?

That Pittsburg has made fewer hits than any other club in the National league?

That the Red Sox have made more hits than any other club in either National or American and that the Mackmen have scored more runs?

That the Southern league is the closest ever known in baseball?

That the St. Louis Nationals have made more hits than any other National league rival.

Or, being thrust adjacent to all this extra knowledge, are you any more grateful to us than you were before?

THE NEW ORDER.

Club owners are now arranging to send scouts out upon a new quest. In place of beating the bushes for ball players, said scouts will be sent forth to round up lawyers. So you can soon look for this announcement:

"Manager Gink, of the Gazinks, is highly elated today over a new acquisition to his staff of attorneys. He believes he has discovered another Blackstone, and from now on is confident that he will be able to recover six of his jumping athletes and to suppress at least five more. The newcomer stands up like Elihu Root and pegs the language like John G. Carlisle."

"Baseball," says Mr. Gilmore, "is a gigantic trust."

And if it continues much further in the same general direction it will be a gigantic bust.

"Watch us win the pennant now," chortles Tris Speaker.

Business of shading our eyes and assuming an attitude of waitful watching.

"In one of the early rounds," says Frank Moran, "I received a hard bump on the left shin that slowed me down."

In other words, so to speak, he was more shinned against than shinning.

May Stop Sunday Games in Montg.

Fans Fear Move Will Be Made to Keep Billies From Playing on Sunday

MONTGOMERY, Ala., July 6.—What promises to be a fight against the playing of Southern league baseball in Montgomery on Sunday was inaugurated here Sunday when Sheriff Hood, of Montgomery county, sent two deputies to the Capitol Heights park and stopped a game which was in progress between the "Rounders," a club of the City league and the Prattville team. The Prattville team was on the field holding their practice when the deputies arrived and when notice was served on the managers of the two teams that if they attempted to play the game they would be placed under arrest, charged with playing baseball on Sunday, it was decided not to play the game and the admission price was refunded to about 500 fans.

There is a movement on here, to stop the alleged violation of the Sabbath by stopping all baseball games, golf, tennis and closing the picture shows.

When informed of the action by the sheriff, President Wilson, of the Montgomery Baseball association, stated that he was taken too completely by surprise to make any statement at this time, but that he would take the matter up with his counsel.

Should Sunday baseball be stopped in Montgomery it would be a severe blow to the owners of the Southern league franchise, for it is the Sunday crowds that tide the team through the season.

The next Southern league game scheduled here is on July 12 and the fans will await with interest that date to see what action is taken.

TODAY'S LUCKY FAN

If the fan to whom arrow is pointing will apply at The Journal office before time for the game today, he will be given a free ticket to the game.

Swimmers Set New Records

New World's Tank Record Made in 440-Yard Swim at National Tournament

SAN FRANCISCO, July 6.—A new world's tank record in 440-yd. swim, a new American record in the 200-yard relay race, and a new Pacific coast record in the 200-yard breaststroke swim were established Sunday in the last day's tournament of the National Invitational Swimming Championships here. The meet was won by the Illinois Athletic club, of Chicago, with a margin of 25 points over its closest contender, the Huinalu club of Hawaii.

Ludy Langer, of Los Angeles, Cal., did the 440 yards in five minutes, 22 1-5 seconds, four-fifths of a second under the world's record. The I. A. C. men made a new relay record, going the 200 yards in 2 minutes, 44 3-4 seconds, and M. McDermott, I. A. C., made the 200 yards breaststroke swim in 2 minutes, 49 4-5 seconds.

P. McGillivray, A. C. Raithel, Max Mott and K. Whofold, comprised the winning relay teams.

Raithel beat Duke Kahanamoku, the Hawaiian, and B. R. Small, of San Francisco, holder of the world's fifthy-yard open water record, in today's fifty yard indoor distance. Small and Kahanamoku bumped.

Illinois Athletic club took 6 points in the meet. Duke Kahanamoku scored all of the Huinalu club's nineteen points.

Jim Donaldson is advising golfers to get away from the follow-through, and may better golf. We got away from it years ago—and it didn't affect us that way.

Officials Ignore Wishart's Protest

SIOUX CITY, Iowa, July 6.—Officials of the 50-mile fourth of July automobile race decided Sunday not to recognize Spencer Wishart's protest that he was not allowed a lap that would have given him first place. The protest was filed late last night.

To avoid controversy over the order in which other cars finished, Rickenbacher, driver of the winning car, consented to drop his second car, driven by Mulford, from third to sixth place. Patschke was moved from fifth to third, and Knipper from sixth to fifth. Anderson kept fourth place. By the agreement the winners of third, fourth and sixth positions pooled their money, each taking $1,700.

Southern Wire Company to Erect Factory Building at No. 63 Martin Street – Street Car Company Will Abandon Freight Depot on Walton Street for Butler Street Location – Decatur Cars to Take on Passengers on Pryor Street

The Southern Wire company will begin shortly the erection of a three-story concrete building at No. 63 Martin street, which it will use for a factory. It now occupies a frame building adjoining.

This property was sold to the company by J. Hieman through Grant & Christie.

The new building will cost about $15,000. The company manufactures wire and kindred products.

STREET CAR CHANGES.

The Georgia, Railway and Electric company will begin shortly work of construction on its freight and passenger depot on Butler street 200 feet north of Decatur street. The building will occupy a lot 100x200 and will cost about $7,000. The grading has already been done.

All suburban freight of the company will be handled here. The former depot on Walton street will be abandoned because of the increased value of the location.

The Walton street building will be used for the company's offices and store rooms will be opened in it for the display of electrical appliances.

The company has asked permission of the city to extend a track about two blocks on Pryor street south to Edgewood avenue, so that passengers on its Decatur cars can board them there instead of on Edgewood avenue at the Equitable building.

This step was taken because of the congestion caused on Edgewood avenue by the loading and unloading of cars there. The traffic on the Decatur lines has grown enormously in the past few years.

BUILDING NOTES.

The value of building for both July and the period since January 1 is behind last year, but there is no doubt about the deficit being made up during the month.

Bids will be opened in a day or two on the Southern Belting company's building on South Pryor street, which will mean a permit of about $75,000 or more.

This, added to a week's good routine business, will easily make up the loss and then a steady increase will be shown.

COMMITTEE WILL FIX PRICE ON BATTLESHIPS

WASHINGTON, July 6.—Commander Tsoukios, of the Greek navy, in company with a representative of a Newport News shipbuilding company, conferred with Secretary Daniels today over the transfer of the battleship Mississippi and Idaho to Greece. Actual delivery of the vessels has been delayed for several days because of difficulty in establishing the exact amount which should be paid for them.

The purchase price, according to the agreement, was to equal the original cost of construction. In order to establish exactly what this cost was a detailed investigation will be necessary. Secretary Daniels said the delay had no other significance.

Long Sleeve Suits Don't Keep Men Out Of Piedmont Lake

That the long-sleeve-bathing-suit rule doesn't prevent the male portion of Atlanta's population from denying itself in Piedmont lake is proven by the fact that there were more men pastiming in the water in the month of June than there were women, boys and girls combined.

On 25,964 separate occasions during the month that has just passed, people took a dip into the lake and 12,796 of these times, the bathers were men. Of boys, there were 7,330 and women and girls made up the remaining 5,838 bathers which brought the total within a very few of the 26,000 mark. Dan Casey, general manager of parks, estimates that upwards of 4,000 different people enjoyed the lake during the month.

The value of building for both July and the period since January 1 is behind last year, but there is no doubt about the deficit being made up during the month.

Bids will be opened in a day or two on the Southern Belting company's building on South Pryor street, which will mean a permit of about $75,000 or more.

This, added to a week's good routine business, will easily make up the loss and then a steady increase will be shown.

DEADLY PERIL OF SLEEP FEARED BY OVER-OCEAN FLYER'S CAPTAIN

LIEUT. J. C. PORTE

The siren sleep presages most peril to daring birdman skimming over Atlantic ocean.

Inset is new picture of Lieutenant Porte, who will be hailed as hero with his worst enemy, sleep, on flight to Europe.

Motor's Deadly Drumming and Hypnotic Glare of Water Will Make Porte's Flight One Long Battle

BY KENNETH WILCOX PAYNE.

One tremendous terror menaces Lieutenant Porte as he prepares for his world-startling trans-Atlantic flight.

Not storm, not fog, not air-pockets, not failure of the engines, not frailty of the planes.

SLEEP! It is the siren sleep who presages most peril to the daring birdman in his great attempt!

Will Lieutenant Porte doze off heavily at the wheel, under the oppressive weight of utter fatigue, perhaps when the peaks of the Azores, his first stop, already loom above the line of sea, and will his plane, lurching suddenly as his languid grip relaxes on the wheel, careen downwards and carry both pilot and his assistant to death?

That is one side difficulty. It is a portentous problem which all his brother birdmen, watching Porte's mighty undertaking, are very seriously considering. For they have each and all felt at some time or other that deadly grip of drowsiness.

Sang the Ancient Mariner, in Coleridge's famous poem:

"O sleep; It is a gentle thing,
Beloved from pole to pole.
To Mary Queen the praise be given;
She sent the gentle sleep from heaven
That slid into my soul."

But our modern mariner, Lieutenant Porte, sailor of the Atlantic skies, has no such pleasant praise for "beloved" sleep. He is to be his worst enemy, more like an evil siren, luring him to destruction, than like a gift from heaven.

Sleep, evoked by the glare of sun on water, by the rush of wind, by the monotonous, rhythmic music of the motors, may rise treacherously upon him, grip him in her magic spell, drug him—bring him to his death!

It will be a mighty fight that Lieutenant Porte must wage against that foe.

In other respects he is fairly secure. The marvelous engines of his trans-Atlantic aërial have stood their test to perfection and have shown that, under all the strain of the first twenty-hour lap in the long flight they will race faithfully with never a stop.

The America has shown that she can carry more than a sufficient supply of petrol for the first stage of the journey. And Lieutenant Porte is an expert enough birdman to triumph without doubt over any air-pockets, "air spots" or cross-currents that he may encounter.

There is very little danger of storm. He will pick his day for starting and will complete his first flight within twenty-four hours. At this time of the year captains of ocean liners will tell you they can count on the sea being unruffled as a millpond, not for the few hours Porte will be in the air, but for days on end.

The America has already proved its ability to ride the minor storms which its pilot may encounter.

In fact, from the mechanical point of view, success of the great flight is practically assured, and it might be safely predicted today that the year 1914 will see the trans-Atlantic voyage, which in spectacular daring and world-interest excels any deed ever undertaken by man, accomplished—were it not for the ONE peril of sleepiness!

For twenty hours the trans-Atlantic flyer must keep wide awake. Through all that time he must keep every muscle active, every nerve alert, his mind constantly concentrated on his compasses and mechanism, making continual effort to detect and adapt his plane to every turn of the air currents. That tense mental activity alone would be sufficient to produce overpowering fatigue.

But through all those endless hours there will be humming accompaniment to the call of mental fatigue, the deadly, monotonous drumming of the engine, beating eternally against his ears like a seductive lullaby!

That this is the real and worst peril, frequently felt, all birdment will testify. The most striking instance of it is told by the great English aviator, Claude Grahame-White.

Grahame-White recently rose with a passenger who proved to be insane. The man began to struggle and kick, and in a few moments would surely have grappled with the pilot and capsized the machine. But the opiate influence of the rush of wind and the hum of the motor and its inevitable effect. The madman gradually become subdued, fell asleep as heavily as though choloformed, and still in that state, when the pilot descended and lifted the erstwhile madman from the machine.

If Lieutenant John C. Porte accomplishes his flight, it will be not the triumph of machinery, not the triumph of skill nor daring, but the triumph of bitter determination and unfailing will —the will NOT TO SLEEP, in spite of sound-drugging and in spite of fatigue.

CAMPAIGN WORKERS FOR TECH SURE OF SUCCESS

Expect to Secure One Hundred Thousand Dollar Fund This Week

The campaign workers for Greater Tech Monday are entering upon the home stretch of the campaign for one hundred thousand dollars in Atlanta.

A final week of whirlwind campaigning is expected to carry the fund over the finish mark without difficulty. The organization for the final week has been completed, and the details are bing given out at the meeting at the Piedmont hotel.

One third of the maount to be raised must be secured this week. By steady effort over two-thirds of the one hundred thousand dollars have been raised. The campaign will be brought to an end by Sunday, and the workers are dtermined that the whole amount shall be raised before the end of the week.

The committees and workers have been carefully organized, and the details of the final week of the campaign have been worked out carefully.

Only a few over hone-half of the prospective donors who were seen early at the beginning of the campaign have been canvassed so far. Many of those who have not been seen have voluntarily sent in their subscriptions to the headquarters.

Every firm or corporation who will ultimately subscribe, or who should subscribe will be visited this week.

The bulletin sent out from the campaign headquarters Monday says in part:

"In the next eight years we expect at least one thousand graduate engineers from Georgia Tech. Engineering and industrial training will be active and of equal to ten thousand more, who will not take complete courses.

Remember these young men this week, and give them the best there is in you. Remember, we will need every one of them, and thy must be provided for.

ROOSEVELT RESIGNS HIS POSITION WITH OUTLOOK

Colonel Quits Editorial Chair to Fight Progressive Party's Battle for Recognition

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

NEW YORK, July 6.—The letter with which Theodore Roosevelt resigned his editorial connection with the staff of the Outlook, and The Outlook's letter of acceptance, were given out here today.

Mr. Roosevelt's letter was written from Oyster Bay, June 29. In it he refers pleasantly to his experiences with the Outlook during the past and regrets the necessity of severing them. Developments of the last three or four years have rendered it impossible, he writes, that he should taks a more active part in the work of the Progressive party. He pledges himself to the admination of "men like Mr. Penrose, Mr. Murphy and Mr. Barnes from control in our political life."

"In addition I now feel that I am honor bound to stand in strong opposition to the administration," he continues. He criticizes Mr. Wilson's international relations, and says the legislative and executive program at home has followed a course of "abandonment of every sane effort to secure the abatement of social and industrial evils."

For these reasons, he writes, it has become impossible for him to give the time necessary to carry out his duties as a member of the editorial staff of the Outlook.

Dr. Abott's acceptance is "with undiminished affection for you, and with undiminished loyalty to the principles for which you stand." Dr. Abott continues that "history has abundantly demonstrated the truth that no man can be both the leader of a great political party and an editor of an independent journal." He is especially glad, he writes, to receive Mr. Roosevelt's assurance of continued work as special contributor to the columns of the Outlook.

HOUSE SAYS WOMEN MAY USE HALL FOR SUFFRAGE GATHERING

Camden county—For purposes of opening inland waterways.

By Mr. Slater of Bryan—To provide validation of land titles.

By Mr. Johnson of Sumter—To incorporate town of Soperton.

By Mr. Reynolds of Charlton—To provide for payment of fees for ordinaries in connection with pension work.

By Mr. Smith of Fulton—To provide that municipal police officers may make arrests in any county.

BILLS PASSED.

Local bills and general bills with local application which were read the third time and declared were as follows:

To amend act creating county commissioners of Green county.

To authorize city of Savannah to close and abolish part of River street.

To amend charter of town of Fairmount.

To repeal act creating city court of Tifton.

To change time holding Terrell county superior court.

To amend act establishing city court of Lexington.

To change time holding Dawson county superior court.

To amend charter of town of Hapeville.

To amen act creating county commissioners of Greene county.

To amend charter of town of Decatur.

To change time of holding Wilkes county superior court.

To amend charter of city of Rabbit bridge.

To create new charter for city of Concord, Pike county.

At the conclusion of the foregoing matter Representative Le Mond, of Troup county, under the right of personal privilege took occasion to make a spirited reply to certain references to him in the newspaper in connection with the Sheffield-Burton child labor bill.

M'MICHAEL TAKES FLOOR.

The close of his speech brought the house to the McCrory school book debate, and Representative McMichael, of Marion county, took the floor under the right of personal privilege to reply to the charges made yesterday by Representative Edmondson, of Brooks county, that he (McMichael), one of the opponents of the McCrory bill, was employed by a book concern whose interests might be seriously affected by the passage of the bill.

Mr. McMichael referred to Mr. Edmondson as a "young man of little discretion and much fondness for notoriety." He declared if the charge had any only to the people who know him and know Mr. Edmondson, he would have paid no attention to it. Not in the history of the state in the Atlanta newspapers attending to place him in the light of a "grafter."

He said he had never in his legislative experience questioned the motives of a fellow member in connection with measures—that when Mr. McCrory proposed the income tax amendment he did not question his motives because one of McCrory's clients would be compelled under such a tax to pay a large sum to the government; that when Mr. McCrory opposed the tax amendment act he did not question his motives because one of Mr. McCrory's clients was known to pay no taxes, though he was generally understood to be worth $200,000 or more.

Mr. McCrory, he said, was the last gentleman to question his motives, and he retaliated by asking Mr. McMichael some questions of a very personal nature, which had no bearing on the school bill.

M'CRORY APOLOGIZES.

Mr. McMichael declined to answer questions, and later Mr. McCrory withdrew them and apologized for having allowed his temper to get away from him. Mr. McMichael accepted the apology, and the house applauded Mr. McCrory.

Mr. McMichael characterized the compromise which Mr. McCrory has agreed upon, whereupon the McCrory plan was killed by a vote of 94 to 58 and the egg shell with all the meat taken out of it, the substitute offered by Mr. McMarks Representative Moye of Jenkins took the floor in support of the McCrory bill. He said that the compromise be a shell, as termed by Mr. McMichael, it is so because Mr. McMichael has safely voted against it. He called on the house to vote down the various amendments which have been offered, declaring they are designed to defeat the purpose of the bill.

MAIN QUESTION ORDERED.

The house, when Mr. Moye had finished, ordered the main question to be put, which it did on the committee's twenty minutes were Mr. Moss of Coffee and Mr. McCrory, in support of the bill.

The house was voting on the amendment when the clock struck 6 o'clock and, adjourned until 10 o'clock Tuesday morning, the McCrory bill going over until that time.

Mrs. Francis Smith Whitesides, of Atlanta, then addressed the house on the question of equal suffrage. The invitation extended her in a resolution which was passed last Thursday.

Beyond the admission of his resignation, Knabenshue refused to discuss the matter. He was appointed to the consular service from Ohio in 1905 by Former President Roosevelt.

RENEWED BULL SUPPORT CAUSED RISE IN COTTON

Market in New York Closed 6 to 16 Points Higher Than the Previous Close

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, July 6.—The cotton market showed a steadier tone early today. Liverpool was relatively steady over the American holiday, and the local market, after opening steady at unchanged prices to a decline of 4 points, sold 3 or 4 points above Friday's closing figures. Offerings were light enough to suggest that the heavy selling of last week had much reduced the long interest, and there was probably some fresh buying as well as covering on rather unfavorable private crop reviews, and the failure of the weather map to show further rains in sections recently complaining of hot, dry weather.

After selling about 10 to 16 points net higher during the middle of the morning on covering and buying for a reaction, the market became less active and prices eased off a few points from the best following the detailed weather reports showing good rains in the eastern belt.

The rain reports failed to inspire much selling and the market soon steadied again on renewed covering, with active months ruling about 9 to 10 points net higher during the middle of the afternoon.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

(By Associated Press.)

NEW ORLEANS, July 6.—Cotton futures opened steady at a loss of 1 to 2 points today, but the decline was only momentary. Heavy buying set in, based on unfavorable crop accounts from the western belt, and the market spurted upward, standing 9 to 11 points over Friday's close at the end of the first half hour of business.

The forecast of continued dry weather further stimulated buying and at noon prices were 14 to 15 points up.

COTTON SEED OIL MARKET.

NEW YORK, July 6.—Aside from some short covering in August, there was nothing doing this morning. The trade has been looking for further tenders of around 5,000 barrels, which so far have not materialized. This, coupled with the firmness in cotton, seems to keep traders uneasy. Outside busines sis at a standstill and refiner appear to control the situation, so far as old crop oil is concerned. The market is without a leader, and until something new develops prices are likely to keep within narrow limits.—Pearsall.

COMMERCIAL APPEAL'S CROP REPORT

MEMPHIS, July 6.—Progress is reported in cotton crop conditions during the past two weeks by correspondents of the Commercial Appeal in Texas, Arkansas and Oklahoma. Rainfall was light in Tennessee, Mississippi and Alabama, and little growth is noted. Conditions are spotted in Georgia, South Carolina and North Carolina, where rains have fallen and good progress was made, but sections where it is still dry the intense heat of the last week did some damage. Plant of very uneven size owing to the failure of much of the late planting to come up. Cultivation perfect, but now that the fruiting season has arrived rain will be necessary to prevent rapid deterioration. The intense heat has failed to check the ravages of the boll weevil.

Regarding Texas, the report shows the crop made good progress during the period covered by this report, but the need of rain is beginning to be felt. Cultivation has been rushed until fields are generally clean and soil in good condition. Plant still very late. Old cotton beginning to fruit, but is needing rain to a greater extent than the younger cotton. Most cotton planted since he rains is chopped out. A good general rain would send the crop far on the road to maturity. Some boll weevils reported in the south, but little damage done to date.

HAYWARD & CLARK COTTON LETTER.

NEW ORLEANS, July 6.—Some good showers have occurred since Friday in localities east of the river and the northeast portion of the Atlantics was particularly favored, but there was no general rain such as is needed.

The map this morning showed partly cloudy in the central belt, generally fair in the eastern and western states, practically no rain and indications are for a generally fair belt, except possibly some cloudy weather and some scattered showers in the eastern portion of the Atlantics.

Liverpool this morning was practically unchanged from friday on futures but quotes spot prices seven points lower, sales 5,000.

English consols show a sharp advance of 100 points since Friday to 76, which reflects some favorable political developments.

Government records show a temperature average for Texas of 102 degrees, which is very high and no rain has fallen since Friday except at Clarendon and at Amarillo in the northwest. Detailed records show good rains on Saturday in the Wilmington, Charleston, Augusta, Atlanta, Savannah and Little Rock districts; only a few scattered showers elsewhere.

Our market opened a little easier but found a great scarcity of sellers and advanced briskly to 12.40 for October. The bulliss report of the Memphis Appeal, a dry weather map, indications for dry weather and high temperatures in Texas made for strength in the market. It is thought that tomorrow's weekly government report will point out that relief was only partial eas of the river and was entirely absent west.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET WAS FIRM AND HIGHER

Union Pacific, Copper, Steel, Southern Pacific, Lehigh Valley and Reading Led

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, July 6.—The more hopeful feeling manifested by the speculative element during the latter part of last week was again in evidence at the outset of today's dealings in the stock market. Without the aid of London, where Americans were mostly lower, early prices here were generally above last Friday's close. Union Pacific was the feature, soon gaining a point, with fair advances in Southern Pacific and Amalgamated. Other active issues were only slightly higher. Rock Island common moved contrary to the general list with a new low record and Sears-Roebuck yielded a small part of its recent spectacular rise.

Following the prevailing tendency, the market fell back into its customary dullnes after the first hour, with moderate recessions from the best. Northern Pacific, Norfolk and Western and Amalgamated were the only important stocks to rival Union Pacific with 1 point gains.

London maintained its bearish attitude throughout the session. This was partly offset by moderate buying of coppers. Trading was stagnant at midday.

An easier trend was shown in the late trading, but for the most part the list was motionless. Final prices resulted in a sprinkling of small gains.

The closing was firm.

Fixing the Limits of Wise Saving.

By JOHN M. OSKISON

In his serious, delightful book Samuel Smiles tried hard to lay down rules and fix boundaries for the thrifty saver. But he never became very definite—and that wasfortunate.

"It is difficult," he wrote, "to fix the precise limits of economy. Bacon says that if a man would live well within his income he could not to expend more than one half and save the rest.

"This is perhaps too exacting; and Bacon himself did not follow his own advice. What proportion of one's income should be expended on rent? That depends upon circumstances. In the country, about one-tenth; in London, about one-sixth.

"It is, at all events, better to save too much than spend too much. One may remedy the first defect, but not so easily the latter."

To know what you take in and what you spend—and how it is earned and spent—is important. So keep accounts, and put down everything. John Wesley did that with his own small income. A year before his death he wrote in his journal of expenses:

"For more than eight-six years I have kept my accounts exactly. I do not care to continue to do so any longer, having the conviction that I economize all that I obtain, and give all that I can—that is to say, all I have."

I think that if you will do as well as John Wesley did, the matter of how much out of your income will be saved may safely be left to your own judgment. No one is going to continue recording expenditures for foolish and extravagant things very long; he will either cut out the foolish and extravagant expenditures or abandon the record.

Spend less than you earn. That is a very plain and perfectly simple guide to thrift. Perhaps this ought to precede: Earn something! You and I need not worry much about the nonearners, however. In America their numbers are inded few.

Weather Conditions

Forecast till 7 p. m. Tuesday.

Atlanta and vicinity: Fair tonight and Tuesday.

Georgia and Alabama: Generally fair tonight and Tuesday.

Generally fair weather prevails over the cotton belt. Only a few stations reported rain during the past 24 hours, chiefly those on the east Gulf and south Atlantic coasts. Some rain was reported in the Missouri valley, with the largest amount 1.44 inches at Kansas City. Generally the weather appears more settled over larger portions of the country than for some time.

The pressure is lowest over Manitoba and over southern Arizona, and is normal or slightly above elsewhere.

Temperatures this morning are moderately high in the south, east and central valley, the 7 a. m. temperatures reaching 70 degrees as far noth as St. Paul. Low temperatures cotninue to prevail west of the Rocky mountains.

Fair weather is indicated for tonight and Tuesday.

GRAIN GOSSIP

Bartlett, Frazier & Co. say: Wheat—The market will probably rule somewhat higher today.

Corn—Local sentiment is pronouncedly bearish.

Oats—Prices may ease off some further, but we do not care about making short sales.

Provisions—The market continues to rule very firm.

B. W. Snow back from South Dakota, says: Last Wednesday my agent in South Dakota reported rust and sent me rusted wheat samples. I have spent three days in checking up this report and find a considerable area in which black rust is generally present in the southern counties in the state. I found it in every field examined at Yankton, Scotland, Nitchel and Salem, each point representing a different county. In a large share of the fields it is present in its final stage on the head stem. Fifty miles further south, at Iroquois, Huron and Woolsey, an occasionally affected stalk can be found, but it requires search. From there north, as far as Redfield, there is no trace. The outbreak is not in the important wheat section and of confined to where now visibly present, would not be serious.

Grain belt forecast: Illinois, Missouri, Indiana, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa unsettled tonight and Tuesday; probably showers and cooler.

Dakotas, Nebraska and Kansas fair and cooler.

Will Feed Alarm Clocks to Sharks

(New York World.)

As soon as the united fruit liner Matapan sailed from here for tropic ports recently, six passengers hunted up Chief Steward Bill Baillie and showed him six big alarm clocks. They said:

"We read in a newspaper how you fed an alarm clock to a shark on your last up trip and how the shark did funny things when the alarm clock went off. Well, we have brought our shark food with us, and all you've got to do is show us the sharks.

"We have been thinking since we met each other aboard that it would be a good plan to feed all the clocks to the same shark—set 'em so they'd go off at frequent intervals, you know."

Another passenger was Jack Hoskins, who earns his living by amusing Central and South Americans. He had with him Simon Bolivar, his pet dancing rooster, which dances every time it is put on a hot plate.

WHEAT IN CHICAGO WAS FIRM IN THE AFTERNOON

Wheat Closed 3-8 to 5-8c Up, Corn, Oats and Lard Off, Pork and Sides Up

(By Associated Press.)

CHICAGO, July 6.—Unfavorable weather in the spring crop region had a bullish effect today on wheat. Fear continued as to black rust, some traces of which were suspected to have been found near Larimore, N. D. Exceptionally heavy receipts of new winter wheat in Chicago tended, however, to act as an offset. The opening, which varied fro m½@⅝c off to ⅝c advance, was followed by a material rise all around, though afterward the gain entirely disappeared and July underwent a decided sag.

Assertions that the largest yield ever known in Nebraska was assured counted later against the bulls, but reports that black rust was general along the southern edge of South Dakota brought about a rally. The close was firm, ¼@⅜c to ⅝c net higher.

Heavy selling by commission houses broke the price of corn. Rain in the southwest, where the crops have been suffering for moisture, furnished the incentive. After starting unchanged to ⅝c lower, quotations rallied somewhat and then went sharply down.

December prices touched a new low level for the crop, but a liberal decrease in the visible supply of corn total helped cause a reaction. The close was steady at ⅝c to ⅝@¾c net decline.

Complaints of rust held the oats market relatively steady. Nevertheless prices showed a little sympathy with the corn weakness.

Higher prices for hogs had only a temporary influence on provisions. Demand was almost wholly confined to ribs.

NEW YORK COTTON LETTER

NEW YORK, July 6.—The 13-point rally in prices this morning in the face of very good over-holiday weather showed that the market had become somewhat oversold Thursday and Friday and that the technical position had been improved. There was a very good class of buying, with contracts rather scarce and although the volume of trade was not large, the market had a much better tone.

There was no news of importance aside from weather advices. Purchases around 12.25 for December ought to prove profitable, as the market looks to have had its decline on the rains and the contract is certainly worth present quotations considering hat the final yield promises o be somewhat under the world's requirements.—Clevenberg.

DICK BROS. & CO.'S COTTON LETTER

NEW YORK, July 6.—We see no basic reason for considering the bureau report of last Wednesday bearish. It is true that the figures showed a big gain during June, but this undoubtedly was because an under estimate had been previously made of the condition in the Carolinas, Georgia and Alabama owing to complaints of drouth at that time. The bureau officials probably laid too much stress on the delay in the germination of the late planted seed. The conditions were similar to 1911, but the bureau at that time was composed of experienced statisticians, who figured merely on the cotton that was up and which had a fairly high condition.

Unless ideal conditions prevail during July we believe that the report to be issued during August will show considerable deterioration, and no crop with a July deterioration ever proved to be a large one.

The question of acreage is also interesting. The bureau placed this at a reduction of only 1.3 per cent, but the figures were based merely on the area planted and did not take into consideration the abandonment that has taken place and which will take place hereafter. We believe the area of cotton picked this season will be between 4 and 5 per cent less than that of last year, and this, in conjunction with a condition below last season, foreshadows a crop considerably below last season's outturn.

Liquidation in the market has been thorough and bear sentiment is becoming more pronounced. Spinners are beginning to buy and the technical position is gaining in stregth. We favor purchases aroud present level and look for ultimately much higher prices.

CARTRIDGES NEW CLUE IN FREEPORT MYSTERY

Pistol Balls, Same as One Killing Mrs. Bailey, Found in Carman Home

(By Associated Press.)

FREEPORT, N. Y., July 6.—Although Dr. Edwin Carman still asserts several shots were fired at him last night near Rockville Center, Lewis Smith, district attorney, and Sheriff Stephen P. Pettitt today declared they still believed Mrs. Louise Bailey was killed by a woman in Dr. Carman's office last Tuesday night.

Sheriff Pettitt today admitted that the investigation had narrowed down to three points, each of which leads to the same person or persons. From information now in his hands he was led to believe an arrest would be made soon.

The inquest into the death of Mrs. Louis Bailey, wife of a New York manufacturer, who was shot and killed last Tuesday night while in consultation with Dr. Edwin Carman, a prominent Freeport physician in his office, was resumed today.

FINDS CARTRIDGES.

Assistant District Attorney Deeks exhibited an unopened box of .38 caliber revolver cartridges, which he said he had found in the attic of the Carman home. Dr. Carman told him, said Weeks, that he did not know how the cartridges came to be in his house. A .38 caliber bullet killed Mrs. Bailey.

The first witness called today was Celia Coleman, a negro maid in the Carman home. She said Mrs. Carman complained of having a headache and that she was going upstairs. The witness saw her leave the dining room, and later heard footsteps she believed were those of Mrs. Carman on the stairs.

She admitted having talked with George Levy, Mrs. Carman's attorney, the morning after the murder. She insisted that no one else was present at the conference.

"Do you know what perjury means?" asked the district attorney.

The witness answered that she did. The district attorney then asked if she had not told him previously that Mrs. Carman was present. The witness said she did not remember.

W. J. W. Haff, Jr., of Lynbrook, near here, who strongly resembles Dr. Carman and drives an automobile of the same type, reported to the Freeport police that early this morning while driving his machine not far from where Dr. Carman was fired upon last night, a man standing beside the road fired one shot at him. Haff is a long-time friend of Dr. Carman.

SAW MAN RUNNING.

Celia Coleman also admitted that she had signed a paper for Mr. Levy without reading it or without having it read to her.

Mrs. Jennie Duryea, mother of Mrs. Bailey, testified that the daughter had been complaining of feeling bad and that it was she who urged her to go to a doctor.

William D. Bailey, husband of the murdered woman, said his wife had not complained to him of feeling ill and he was not aware that she ever knew of Dr. Carman.

Madeline Bailey, 17-year-old daughter of the Baileys, said that her mother had mentioned Dr. Carman's name to her.

Charles Anderson, a negro youth, then testified that as he was passing the Carman house about 8 o'clock last Tuesday night he heard a report he thought was caused by a fire cracker. He looked in the yard and saw a man running toward the back fence. The man jumped over the fence and Anderson later saw him emerge from an alley in the next street.

BILLY SUNDAY MAY PREACH IN ATLANTA

Move to Leave Proposed Revival Up to Forward Movement Rejected

Dr. C. O. Jones, pastor of the Grace Methodist church, Monday morning, effectively blocked a move made at the monthly meeting of the Atlanta Evangelical Ministers' association held at the First Presbyterian church, to allow the executive committee of the Men and Religion Forward Movement the privilege of taking final action on whether or not "Billy" Sunday, the evangelist, should be brought here for a protracted meeting.

The motion to put the matter entirely in the hands of the executive committee with power to act was made by Dr. Richard Orme Flinn, pastor of the North Avenue Presbyterian church, who declared that he believed a great benefit to the community would be derived from such a series of services. He spoke of other cities where Mr. Sunday had admittedly done great work, and stressed the importance of his being brought here.

Dr. Jones declared that he was opposed to "hippodrome" meetings and to the executive committee being allowed to consider the calling of Mr. Sunday, at the same time committing the association to its action. He said that he favored the committee being allowed to make a report, but specified that its findings be submitted to the association for final action.

In the course of his remarks, Dr. Jones pointed to other such services held in Atlanta in the past that he believed had been of little benefit to those for whom they were intended.

"I have noticed in the past," he said, "that our amen corner members flock to these meetings and crowd out those who would receive the most benefit. I am opposed to any such meetings unless our ministers and their congregations are excluded."

As a result of the unexpected opposition to his motion, Dr. Flinn changed it, so that the report of the executive committee would have to be submitted to the members of the association. In this form it was carried without a dissenting voice.

Before the adjournment of the association until next October, resolutions, indorsing a state bill providing for compulsory arbitration of all disputes between capital and labor, was unanimously passed. Those who spoke in favor of the resolution were Marion Jackson, John J. Egan and Dr. C. B. Wilmer.

Mrs. Emma L. White Dead

Mrs. Emma L. White, aged thirty-two years, died Monday morning at her home, 50 South Mason avenue, Edgewood. She is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Wallace, four brothers, J. M., M. F., H. A. and L. J., three sisters; Mrs. Nannie Westbrooks, Mrs. Hattie Henderson and Mrs. Niome Steele, and five small children. Funeral services will be held at Mount Olive church Tuesday morning at 10:30 o'clock and interement will be in the church yard.

NEW ORLEANS' 400,000 RAT POPULATION DOOMED

Six Months Will Be Required to Wipe Out Plague-Bearing Rodents

(By Associated Press.)

NEW ORLEANS, July 6.—The bubonic plague situation in New Orleans today was practically unchanged. No new cases had developed and Dr. Rupert Blue, surgeon general of the federal health service, who took full charge today of the eradication work, declared there was no cause for alarm.

"There is no human plague epidemic in New Orleans," said Dr. Blue, "and we must seek to remove the only means to such an epidemic—the bubonic plague among rats."

The surgeon general estimated the rat population of New Orleans at 400,000. To exterminate these a minimum of six months will be required. A wholesale trapping campaign will be instituted when the twelve rat catchers arrive from San Francisco within the next few days. These will be assisted by a hundred or more men furnished by the city.

FRIENDS GIVE HERRICK A FAREWELL LUNCHEON

PARIS, July 6.—A farewell luncheon was given jointly by the American chamber of commerce in Paris and the American club to Myron T. Herrick, the American ambassador, who is arranging to leave the embassy in a few days. President Wilson has written to the retiring ambassador as follows:

"My Dear My Herrick:

"I can not sign your letter of recall though I know you wish to be relieved of your duties at Paris, without expressing my regret that the government is to lose your services and my sincere appreciation of the diligence and intelligence with which you have performed the very difficult and delicate tasks of that important embassy. I sincerely hope that the future will bring you additional honor and satisfaction."

BORAH FIGHTS SECRECY ON NICARAGUAN TREATY

Senator Charges It Is Based on Tyranny and Corruption and Can't Stand Publicity

WASHINGTON, July 6.—Senator Borah began a fight today to force consideration of the Colombian and Nicaraguan treaties in open session. He presented a resolution also calling for the publication of all investigations by the foreign relations committee. It was put off until tomorrow under the rules.

"If I cannot get the consent of the senate to have this Nicaragua treaty considered in the open," said Senator Borah, "I will be forced to disregard the rules of the senate. I have not attended a single session of the committee since the present hearings began, because I did not propose to submit the results of my investigation to the clamp of secrecy in executive session. If the Nicaraguan treaty is brought out into the open it will die, as it ought to die. I believe it is the outgrowth of deception, misrepresentation, fraud, tyranny and corruption, and I'm prepared to show it."

RECEIVERS ASKED FOR THREE LORIMER BANKS

Depositors Take Action Against Smaller Banks After Failure of Parent Bank

(By Associated Press.)

CHICAGO, July 6.—Receivers were asked for three of the Lorimer-Munday string of small banks today. These banks closed with the failure of the parent bank, the LaSalle Street Trust and Savings bank. They are the State Bank of Calumet, the Illinois State Bank of Chicago, and the Ashland Twelfth State bank.

The application was made by William Freedman, attorney for certain depositors. It is charged $75,000 of city deposits allotted to the Calumet bank and smaller city deposits allotted to the other two branch banks never reached them and were in fact deposited in the LaSalle Street bank. It is further alleged that certain stockholders in the banks never paid for their stock. Assessments of stockholders under the double liability act is requested.
